WESTERNER

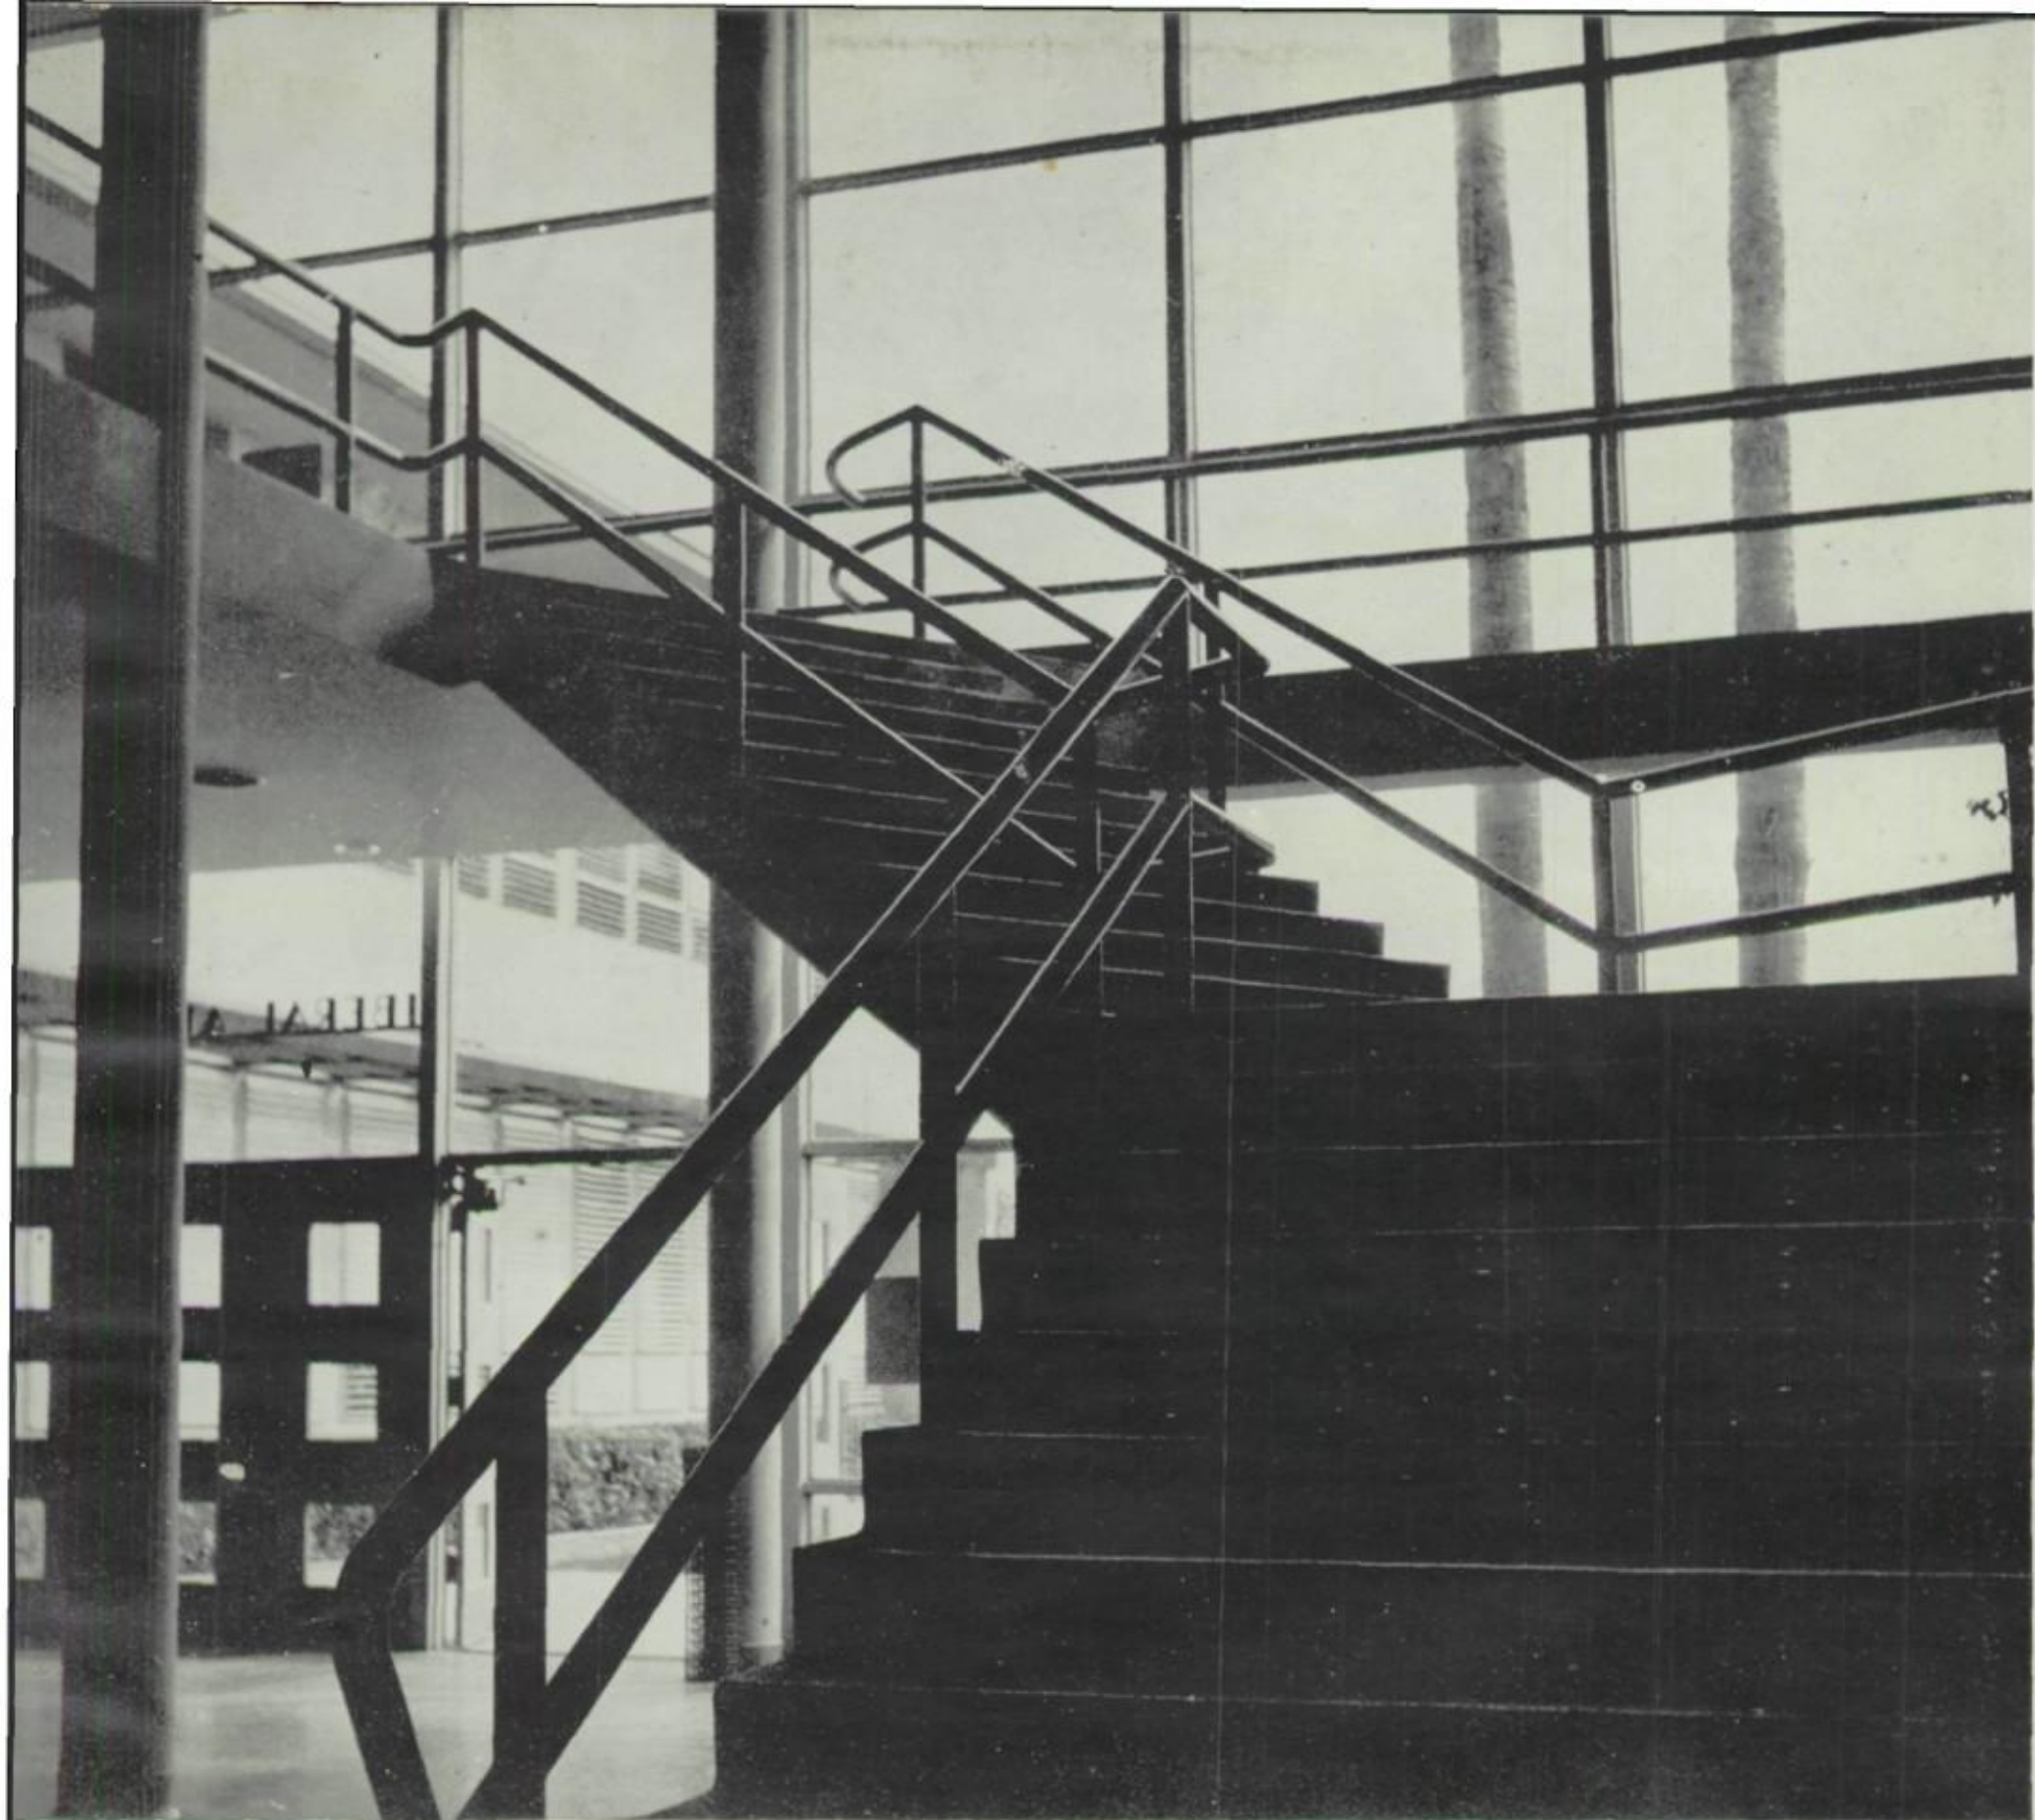

With 1953 commencement exercises, West Phoenix High School completes its first cycle of education. It has harbored within its walls a group of students from their first day as Freshmen to their last day as graduating Seniors — educating them, growing with them, and echoing their joys and sorrows.

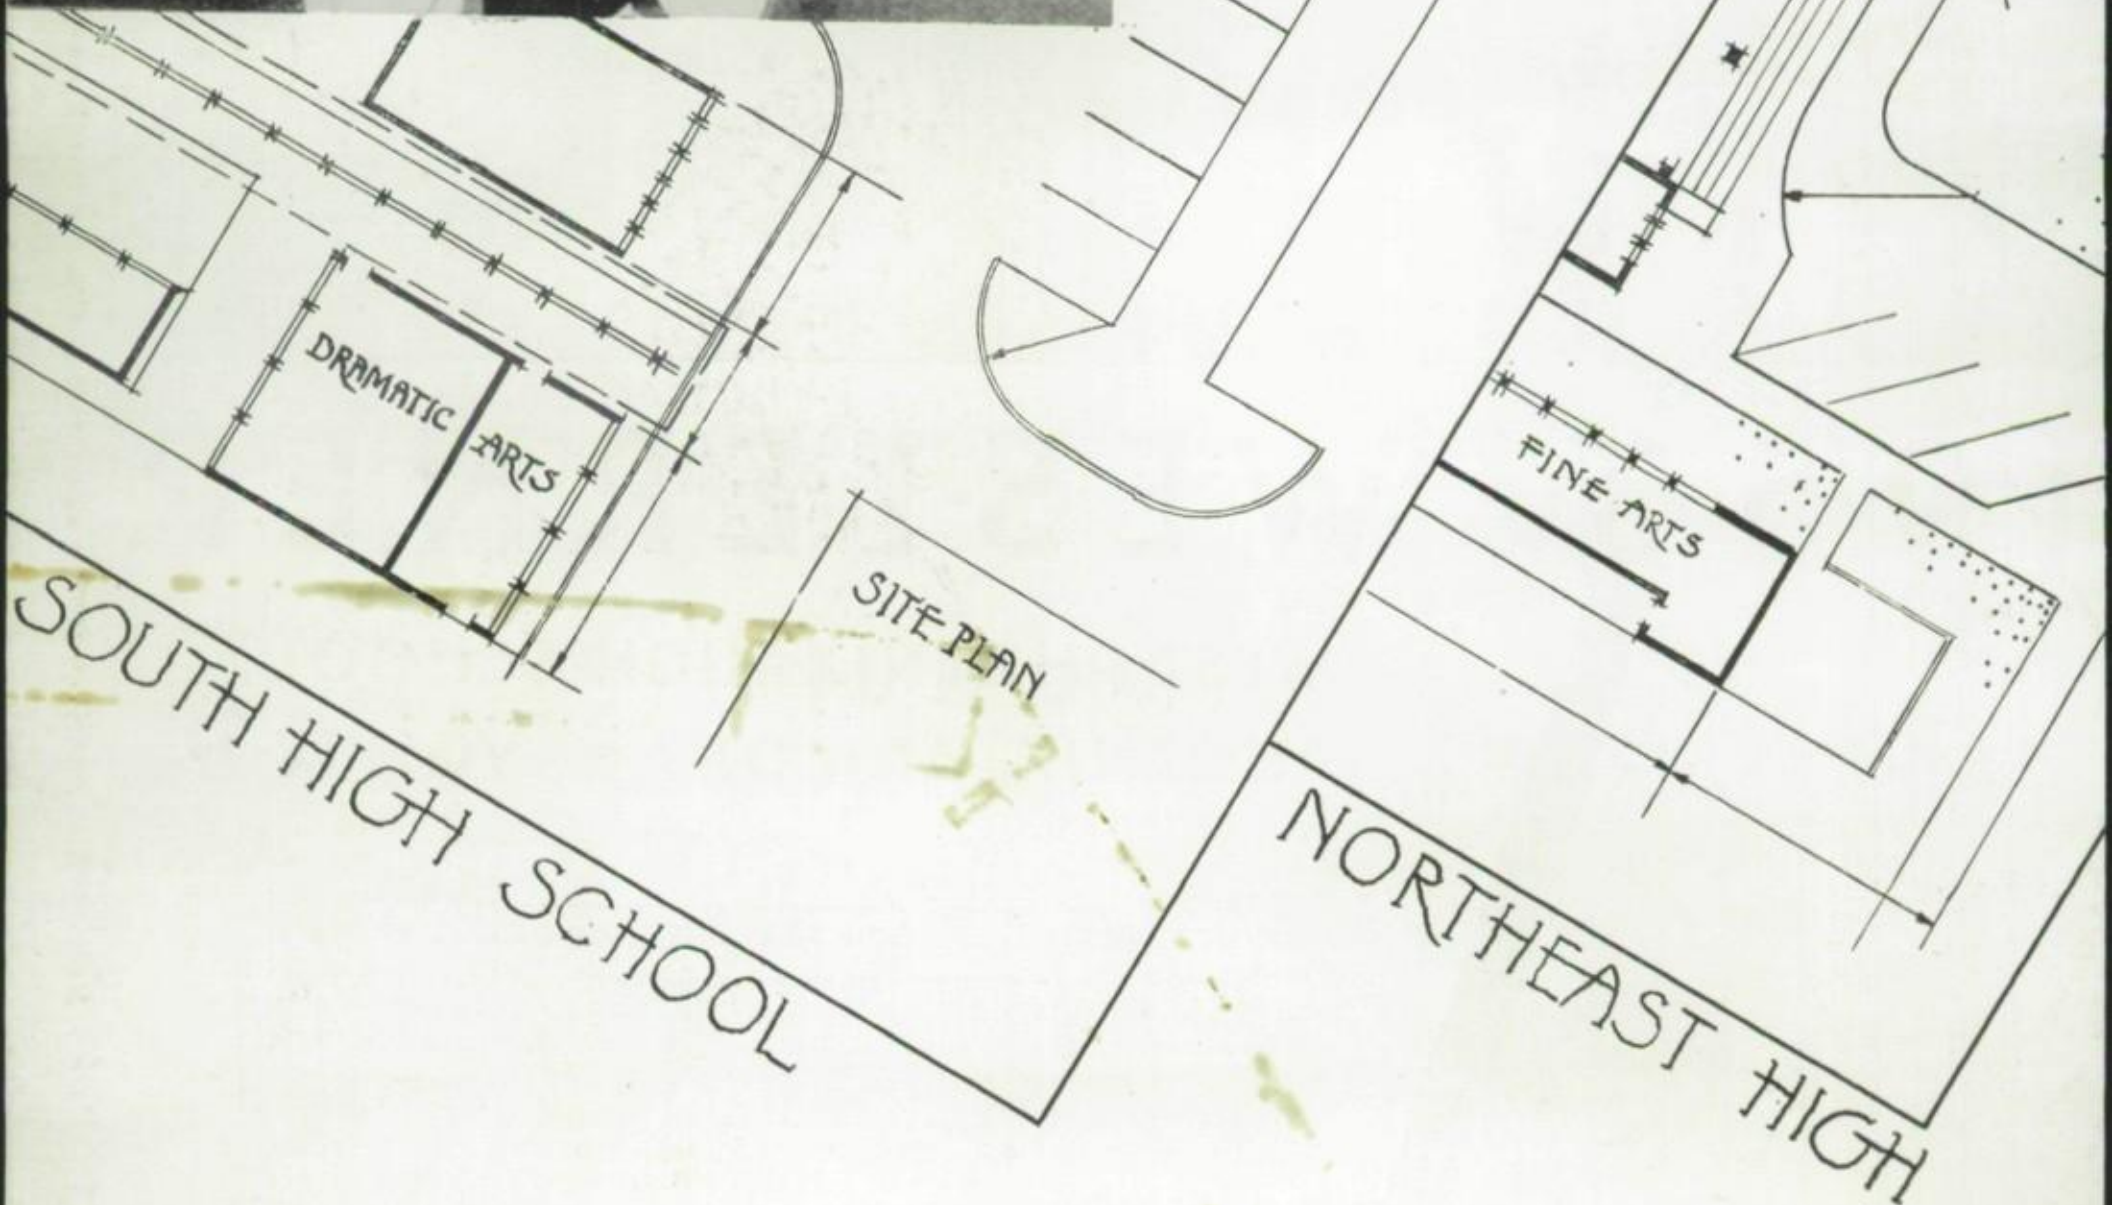

This stairway of growth is not ended. Around each succeeding bend are infinite steps symbolizing continuous educational opportunities for thousands of America's youth. In future years West Phoenix High School's "Coming of Age" will be only a memorable page in the story of its progress.

Dedication

When Dr. E. W. Montgomery came to Phoenix in August, 1925, as superintendent of the Phoenix Union High School district, PUHS was the sole school. Since that time Dr. Montgomery has supervised the construction and organization of three high schools, a technical school, and a new Phoenix College campus. The construction of two new high schools marks his last year at the helm.

Dr. Montgomery has been a beacon of light to thousands of students who have felt his kindly influence during the past years. As he steps down with honor and distinction after serving the people of Phoenix for twenty-eight years, West Phoenix High School dedicates the 1953 Westerner to him in recognition of outstanding work accomplished in the field of education. Here is a builder—a builder of schools, a builder of minds, a builder of democracy.

1949-53 Were

West High's physical growth is best seen in the marked improvements on the face of many buildings. Before and after construction pictures of the attractive stairway leading to business education rooms and the quad are representative of these transformations. A mantle of green landscape greets the eye from this outdoor passageway.

Growth For

From April 22, 1948, when ground was broken for the construction of West Phoenix High School until the present time, new buildings have been added, original buildings have been augmented, and green foliage have enhanced the beauty of the school.

Students and faculty, working in the city's most modern high school, take pride in expounding on the educational facilities available at West.

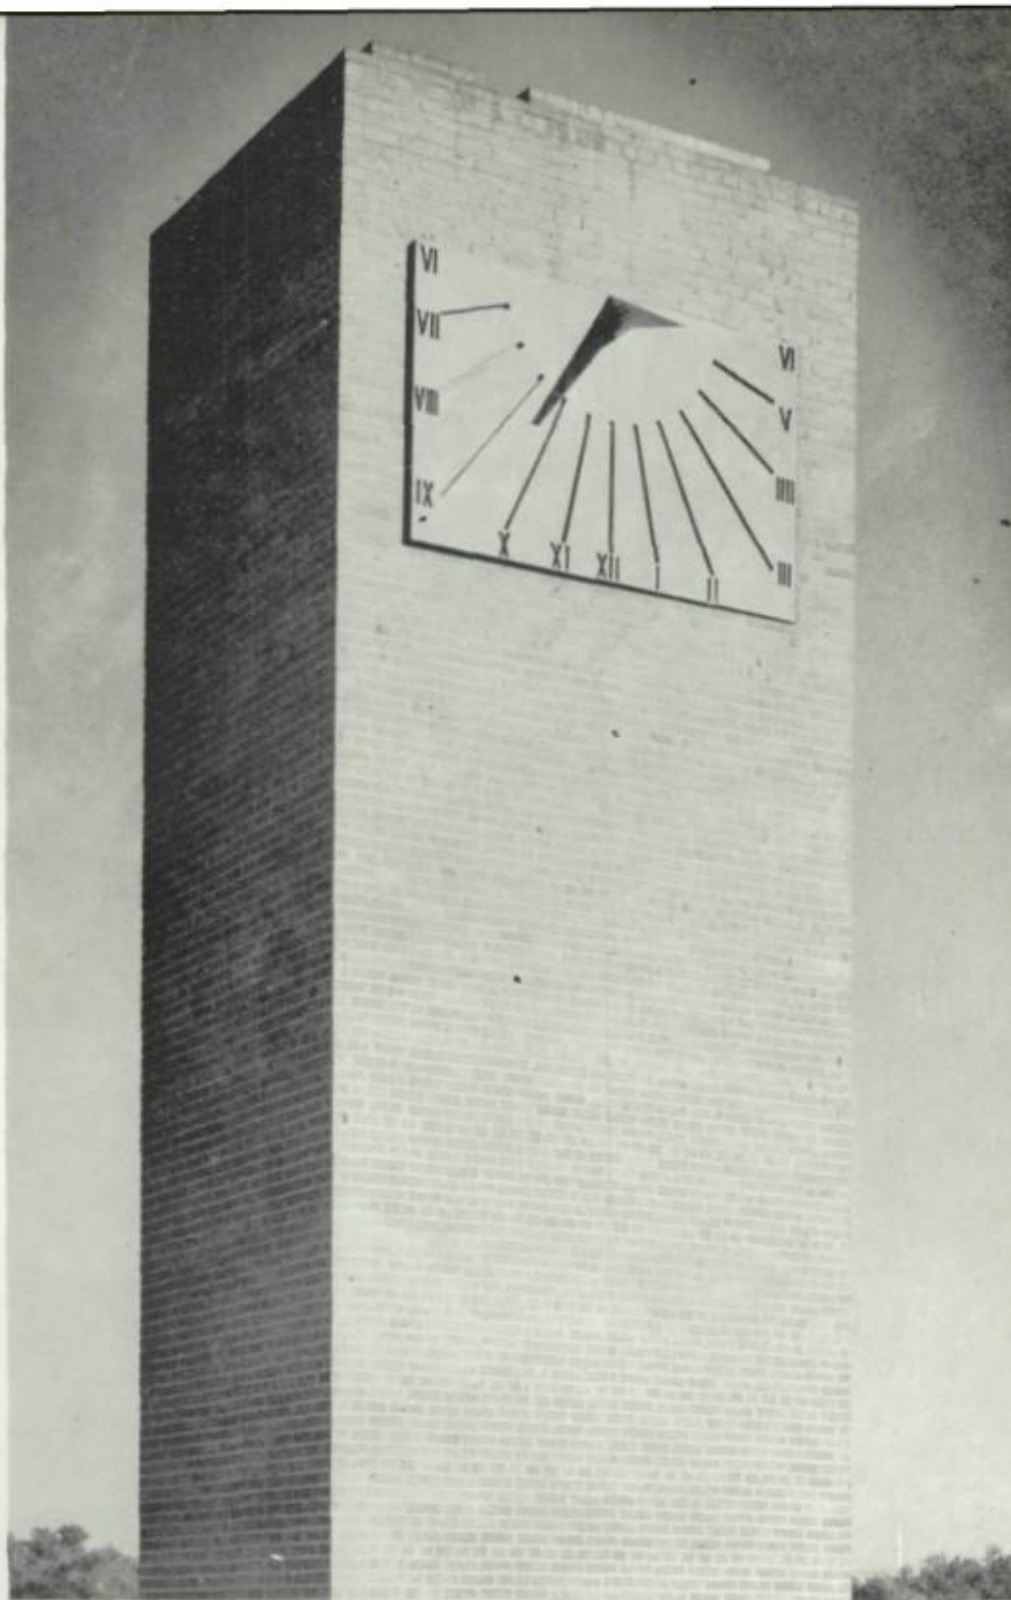

Years Of

North of the gymnasium is our newest building, a 1952 addition to the campus. With an eye toward southwestern architecture, all hallways are on the outside of this edifice. A mirrored dancing room, a western music room, and plastic and electrical shops are housed within the walls of this functional building.

Majestically surveying the school scene from its berth atop the cafeteria is the Sun Dial, namesake of the student newspaper. Students entering the cafeteria from the Liberal Arts Building can determine time of day from this landmark.

A Modernistic School

West's gymnasium has been the center of numerous student activities. Doubling as a site for dances and athletic events at night, its facilities are also used in the daytime for assembly programs. The huge east window of the gym is symbolic of the modern architectural design of the entire campus.

At night West's beauty is magnified when rooms facing the quad are lighted. The majority of rooms are incorporated in this expansive Liberal Arts Building thus making classes easily accessible to students. The picture window entrance fronting the main lobby on Thomas Road is in a sense symbolic, for when viewed at night, the school appears as one continuous window.

THE COVER—In keeping with the theme of the WESTERNER, Indian designs are used in connection with our Thunderbird mascot. The pueblo symbolizes the four classes of West High—the first floor representing Freshmen, etc. As each class progresses to the top of the pueblo, it loses students to the four corners of the earth as designated by the adjoining cardinal points. Four Senior classes have now reached the top of the pueblo. Upon graduation of the class of '53, the vertical lines representing the classes of 1949-53 reach the Thunderbird and signify "Coming of Age." (Cover by Jack Haehl).

ADMINISTRATION

When devotion to public service is measured, high on the list will be members of the board serving Phoenix Union High Schools and Phoenix College. They give unstintingly of their time in serving the tax payers of this district as stewards directing one of the finest school systems in these United States. They are truly public servants.

Their Stewardship Is Good

The Head

Directing a modern, new, comprehensive high school to insure maximum efficiency and economy is a fulltime job. During the past four years Mr. Donald F. Stone, principal, has done just that to guide West Phoenix High School to its "coming of age." Principal Stone has helped West soothe its growing pains as the enrollment soared to over 2,500 students.

One of his many attributes is a genuine interest in the welfare and adequate educational growth of West's boys and girls. He is constantly pursuing his goal for student participation in school government. His door is always open to parents, students, and teachers. No problem is too great or too small to merit Principal Stone's undivided attention.

Besides his endless work as director of one of Arizona's largest secondary schools, he is executive secretary of the Arizona Inter-Scholastic Association, an active pilot, and a regular member of the Kiwanis Club.

As principal's secretary since 1949, Miss Glenna Wilson handles all of Mr. Stone's correspondence, keeps his appointments straight and works jointly with Mrs. Lawrence in auditing the school budget, filing requisitions, and performing the thousand and one tasks that keep West High on a clockwork schedule.

She and Mrs. Lawrence keep a scrapbook of all West High's activities. At present they have completed four of these valuable documents.

MISS GLENNA WILSON

Office

Mrs. Fay Lawrence is one of the attractive young women who helps keep the clearing house that is the front office in working order. Although formerly with the dean's office, she has worked with Principal Stone for the past three years.

The switchboard occupies much of her time; through it comes every phone call both to and within the school. In her spare moments, she makes P. A. announcements and regulates the chimes according to the daily schedule.

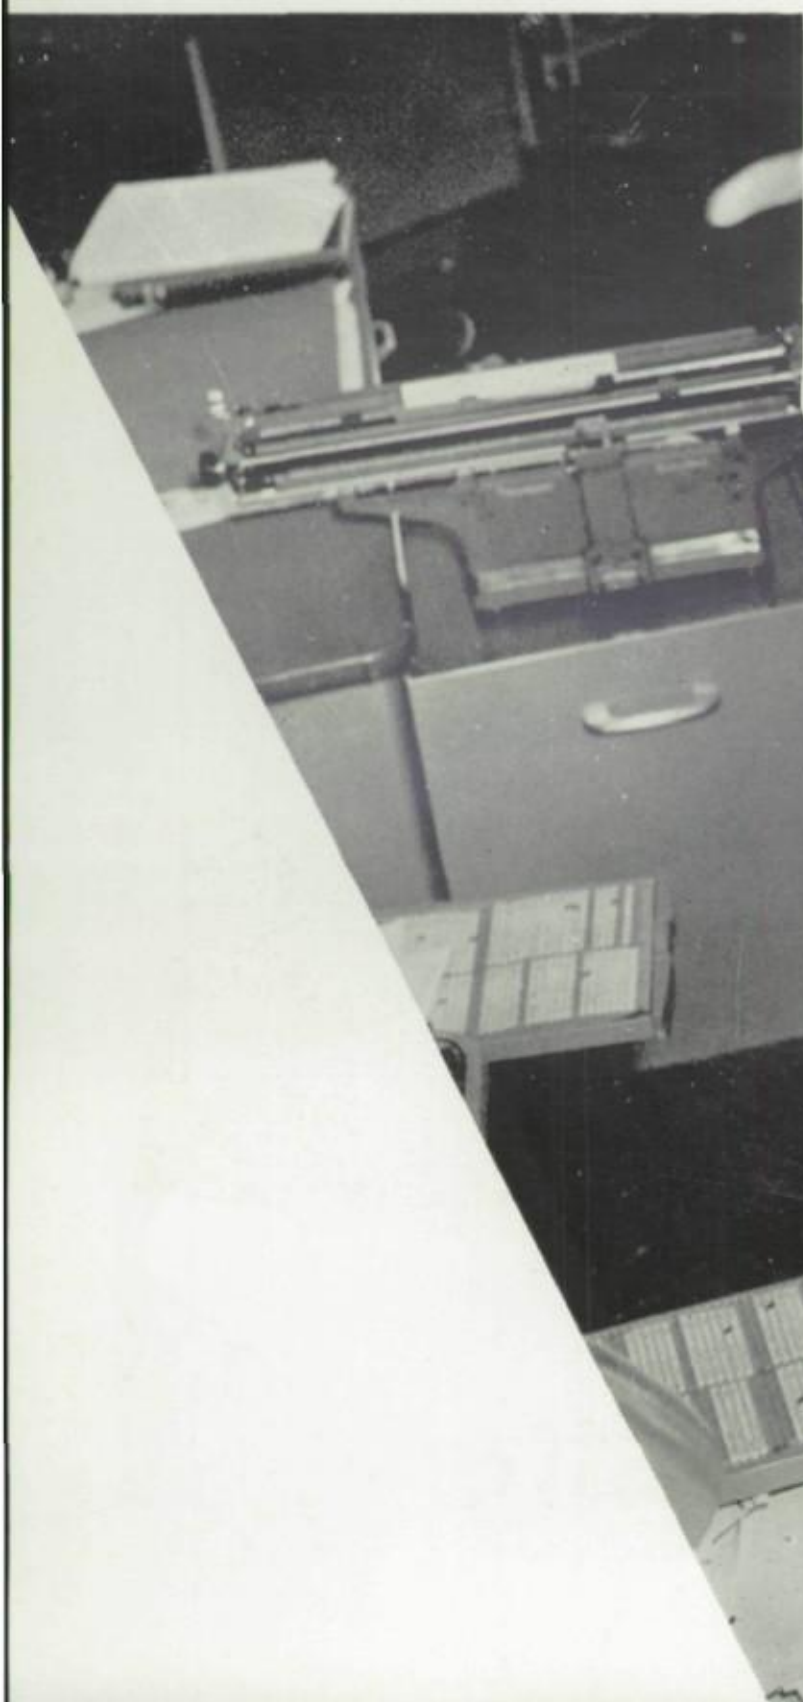

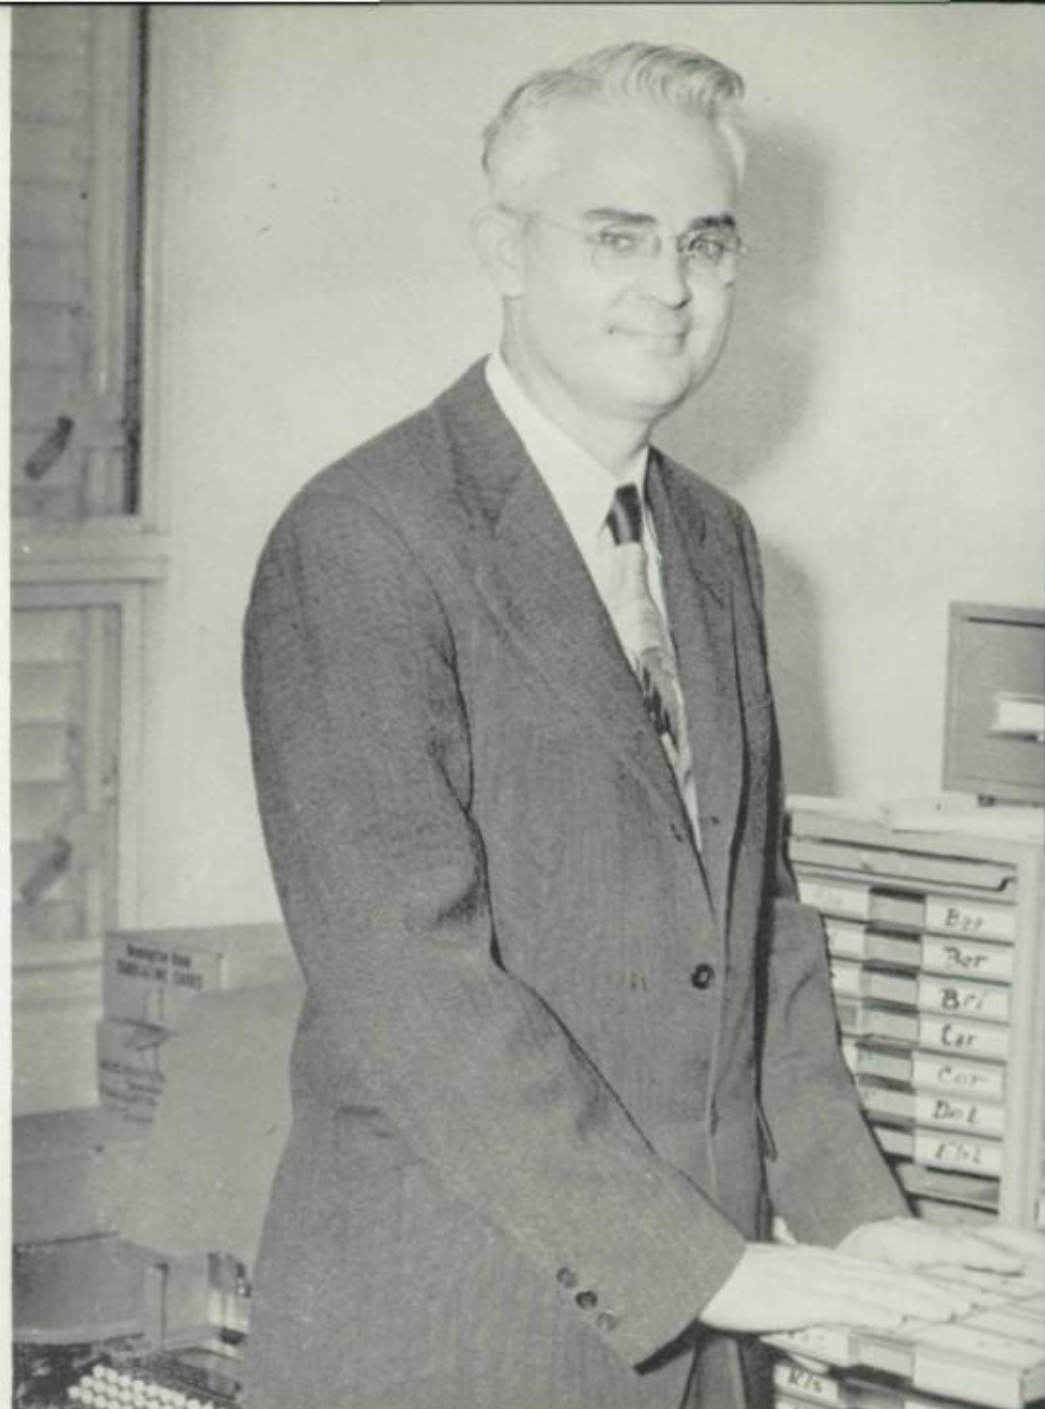

MRS. FAY LAWRENCE

Mr. Glen Bradford, registrar, has the momentous job of maintaining accurate and complete records for every student in school. Due to great increase in enrollment at West High, being registrar can be a tedious and often frustrating task, but Mr. Bradford has proved very capable in directing this tremendous responsibility with a good will that amazes everyone.

One of his many achievements has been the modernization of record tabulation and office operation with the key-punch and assorter machines installed in the registrar's office in August, 1951.

Miss Betsy Harris, registration secretary, has given valuable service in West's administrations for three years. All students appreciate her friendly smile and courteous help when arranging class schedules.

Registrar's office is the archives of West Phoenix. All grades, activities, honors, etc., are recorded here on student's cumulative, permanent record. Efficient is the word to describe the staff members that do these numerous things in the office. Whether it's a return slip, grade average, or transcript a student wishes, he will receive it quickly and courteously.

Attendance is the special forte of Mrs. Rose Roberts, attendance clerk, and her pleasant manner makes waiting to have return slips checked in the registrar's office a pleasure.

Mrs. Rosamond Nelson's major responsibility as credentials secretary is operating the key-punch and asserter machine that reduces to a card the case history of every student in school.

Mrs. Olive Ray serves a dual capacity in keeping records for Principal D. F. Stone, executive secretary of AIA, and assisting in the registrar's office.

Important Details

Friendly

Dynamic leadership and unflinching ideas are packed into the small frame and cheery voice of Miss Eleanor Fullington, Dean of Girls. Her memo pad is always filled with student appointments concerning a wide range of problems and questions.

Sage advice is given by Deans Fullington and Vaughn to students with problems ranging from "I have too little homework" to "I have too many boyfriends!"

Dean Eleanor Fullington lends her various talents to many phases of school activity such as attending to disciplinary problems of girls, scheduling all social events on campus, providing sponsors and supervising activities for all clubs, and counseling Girls' League. Miss Fullington knows well the various aspects of her job for she has been at West as a counselor since its first year and has been Dean of Girls since 1951.

A typical day of her activities would follow this pattern: — arrive at school to prepare daily bulletin announcements and check excused and unexcused absences. — See Miss Sain about Trickateen Club's decorating lobby Christmas tree (check on ornaments in storage). — Conference with Mr. Snapp. — Conference with Mr. Stone. — Conference with Mr. Vaughn. — Conference with Mills College representative and arrange for her to speak with Senior girls. — Correspondence — Issue parking lot passes and fill out college application blanks for Lorna Price, Barbara Goor, and Marilyn Luke. — Meet with Audrey Viliborghi and Mrs. Macon about decorations for Emerald Evening. — Help Girl's League prepare decorations for Emerald Evening.

Guidance

Miss Diane Verry, secretary to the deans, comes up smiling from a towering stack of official correspondence. Aside from her secretarial work, she types the daily bulletin and has charge of the school's lost and found, which is a popular gathering place for stray belongings of WPHS students.

Among the new faces in the administration building is that of cheerful Miss Diane Verry, who works in conjunction with Miss Fullington and Mr. Vaughn.

Mr. Vaughn is one of the more popular figures on West High's campus. He has held the position of Dean of Boys since the school first opened its doors in 1949 and deals with the many responsibilities of his position efficiently and capably.

Among his administrative duties, he is responsible for all disciplinary problems involving boys and heads the committee which organizes the student handbook. This useful volume, containing everything from soup to nuts about West High, represents the kind of effort Mr. Vaughn puts into everything he does.

In addition, Dean Vaughn is head of Boys' League and was helpful in organizing our first homecoming. He is the guiding light of the Dads' Club, West's well-known and much lauded father-son organization.

As parents and friends toured classrooms, students demonstrated experiments as shown in the physics and chemistry labs below.

Parents and friends of West High had a chance to get better acquainted with our school during the fourth annual Open House held in October. Entertainment was presented by the orchestra, mixed chorus, and Kachina dancers.

All classrooms were opened to visitors. Follies rehearsals took place in the Little Theater; movies were shown in several rooms, and special exhibits were on display for visitors' enjoyment and enlightenment.

Close co-operation between teachers and parents is one of the major goals of West P-TA. They achieve it through their well-planned monthly meetings, annual assembly program, Senior graduation dance, and general friendly interest in West High affairs. We have one of the most active Parent-Teacher associations in Phoenix.

STUDENTS

Student Leaders

Wilfred Hutson, first semester student body president, presided over assemblies and was ex-officio member of the appointed student government committees. Mathilde Rollow served as second semester president.

Student body officers have more duties and work than most people realize. The president and vice-president must know the school constitution and parliamentary procedure. Secretaries must be able to type stencils, take minutes, and perform other secretarial duties. The treasurer presides over finance committee meetings and helps plan and budget school funds.

This year's student body officers have proven capable of holding their respective offices. From top to bottom are: Mathilde Rollow, first semester vice-president; Doug Whitnell, boys' secretary; Sue Holbert, girls' secretary; and Marilyn Poppino, treasurer.

Various student committees have a great part in smooth functioning of student government. Finance committee plans and budgets funds of the school. Advisory committee listens to complaints of students and tries to remedy them. Planning dances and other social events is the main purpose of the social committee.

Activity committee takes care of such things as campus cleanup campaigns, clothing drive, and other worthwhile projects. Making assemblies better than ever and planning a variety of shows are the main functions of the assembly committee. When voting time comes, the election committee goes to work checking petitions and counting ballots.

Playing an important part in keeping student records straight are the Guidance Board secretaries. Shown busy at work are Lorena Larriva, Mrs. Eugenia Jordan, Margaret Edwards, Norma Jameson, and Ann McKee.

(ROW 2) Mr. Ed Walsh, faculty advisor; Wilfred Hutson; Bill Braman, Senior Boy Representative; and Neill Richards, Junior Boy Representative.

Student Government Functions

The Guidance Board is composed of two Junior and two Senior representatives elected by the students, the student body president as an ex-officio member, and a faculty advisor. This group helps students who face disciplinary problems.

When a teacher issues demerits, the board reviews the case to decide if the teacher was justified in the punishment. Demerits are usually passed and secretaries type them on students cards and file in the master file for future reference. These files are referred to when a student receives more demerits or has previous ones petitioned off. They may also be referred to when the student is under consideration for a scholarship, college entrance, or a job.

Student Council is composed of a representative from each homeroom, student body officers, and class presidents. It is the core of student government. One of its many accomplishments has been revision of the constitution to make rules easier to understand and interpret. They also approve organizational pins and emblems and handle the many problems that arise concerning student government.

Vivacious Audrey Viliborghi, Girls' League president, outlines the activities for '53 to her cabinet.

Favia Adams, the league's witty vice-president, helps keep the organization on an even keel.

Anne Miller, secretary, keeps an up-to-the-minute account of Girls' League projects and activities.

Busy Linda Mahaffey, treasurer, makes the job of keeping the books for this campus wide organization look easy.

Girls' League, sponsored by Miss Eleanor Fullington and directed by some of the ablest leaders in West, is run on a business-with-pleasure basis. Every girl in school can be an active part of this campus wide organization.

It sponsors dances, a fashion show, an all-girls dinner, and covers an incredible range of projects during its active year. Even the fellows get in on the fun as part of an annual boy-girl open panel discussion.

Never Underestimate . . .

The Junior council has been industrious throughout the year entertaining Cerebral Palsy patients. They are (ROW 1) Hopkins, Randall, Pontecorvo, Powell, Larriva, and Lewis. (ROW 2) Miss Ruth Miller, Palmer, Thompson, McCarty, Cassavant, and Ullis.

Girls' League class councils are the means of reaching homerooms and thereby contacting every girl in school. A representative from each homeroom is elected to a class council; the president and representative of each respective class council are members of the executive cabinet along with Girls' League officers and chairmen.

Hard-working Sophomore council members had many projects this year. Representatives are (ROW 1) Samuels, Kennedy, Satz, Chiate, McGrew, England, and Miss Ruby Reider. (ROW 2) Cooper, Alton, Foster, McOwen, and Bockserman.

Monte Kobey, Boys' League president, always mixes a friendly "HI" and a joke with his routine duties of directing an organization composed of 1,156 West High boys.

Vice-president Don Cook arranged many of the Boys' League activities that made a successful year during '53.

Energetic secretary - treasurer Mike Armer handles his double-duty job with precision and accuracy. Here he greets his quill and pad in preparation for writing Boys' League minutes.

Esquire Inc.—For Men Only

When masculine students of West organized any one of their successful activities during the past year, fragile femmes took a side-seat. Under the direction and guidance of Dean William Vaughn, Boys' League produced a variety of interesting programs: the hilarious commando basketball game, the fine "Rhapsody in Blue" formal dance, and the family fun at the Father-Son banquet in April. Another feature on their calendar was West's first annual Homecoming celebration.

Representing the four classes and the executive board are members of the Boys' League cabinet. (ROW 1) Cook, Armer, Koby. (STANDING) Bentley, Holt, Dennison, Brown, and Armer.

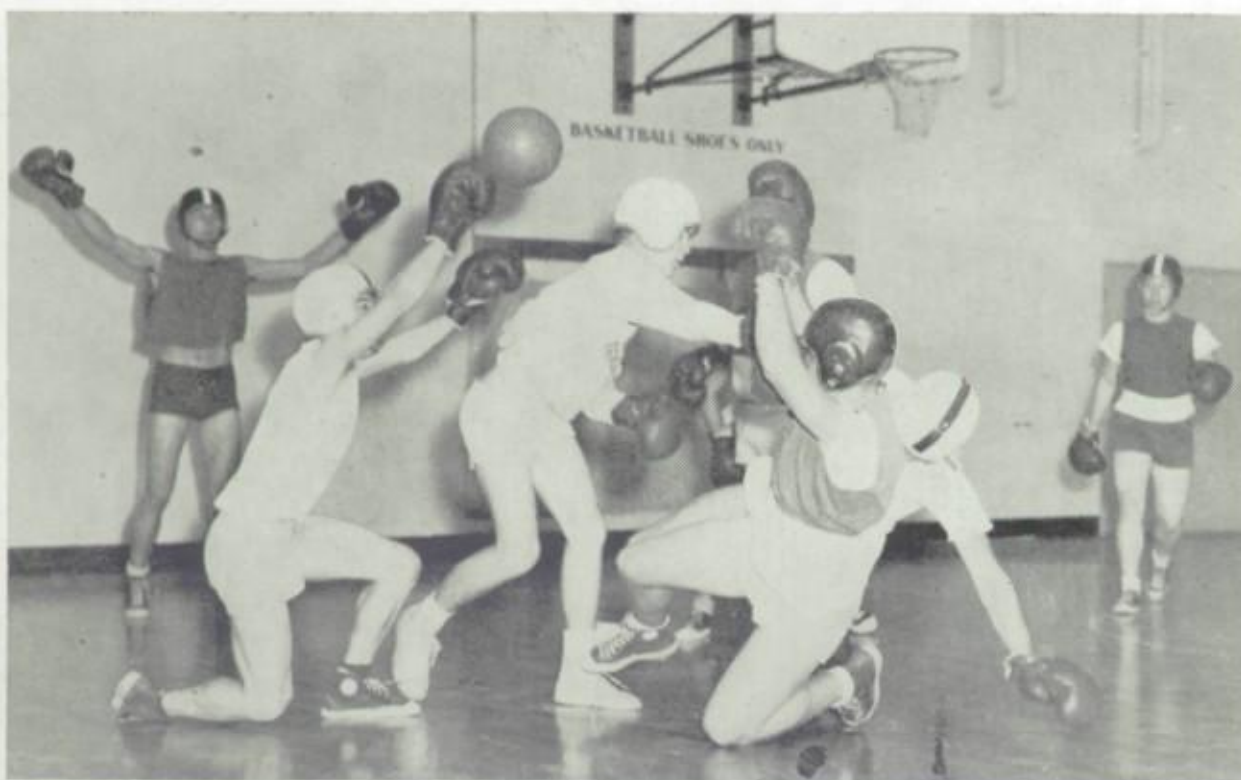

Each homeroom sends one boy to the delegate council composed of: (ROW 1) Brown, Hodges, Logan, Harruld, Jacobson, Renner, Kort, Donnelly, Elston, Walters, Stehr. (ROW 4) Armer, Holt, Brown, Sharp, Grimm, Nuzum, Bochman, De Busk, Hightower, Whitmer, Simis, Gustafson, Schmitz.

Bob Capriotti looks disgusted as he views the commando basketball game from the floor. Both teams wore football helmets and boxing gloves at the start of the game as protection, but they were used as primary weapons at the finish.

A player can get mangled legally in this game. That is, if he happens to be carrying the ball. If someone who doesn't have the ball is fouled (which happens often), it's off to the pit, where one stays as long as the "officials" see fit.

What poor guy is at the bottom of this pile? Whoever it is, he's not getting any sympathy from his opponents. This free-for-all game is an annual pay affair given during a sixth period assembly by the Boys' League. It furnishes lots of fun for everyone.

Boys' League officers and their dates composed the receiving line at the fourth annual boy-ask-girl dance fete and greeted guests before the dance got underway.

Rhapsody In Blue... Shall We Dance?

Opening the formal season this year was the highly successful Boys' League formal, "Rhapsody in Blue," held on January 17, in the gym with Joe Aronson's orchestra furnishing music for the gala event. The gym was decorated along the blue theme with a ceiling of blue and with musical notes along the walls. Soft lights and dreamy music provided the setting for a memorable evening.

Molly Roller and Ann McKee provided intermission entertainment with a piano duet of "Rhapsody in Blue." Other entertainment was provided by Dick Gilbert, who gave some of his famous impersonations.

Couples dressed in filmy formals and Sunday suits took time out to sign programs and exchange friendly greetings between dances.

Thunderbirds, Full Winged Flight To Unknown

Sam Henrie, Senior class president, has been a "leader of men" since West history began. That habitual sparkle in his eyes has opened many a path of laughter and his generalship has set a pace in ingenuity and achievement.

Behind the determined face of vice-president Gerry Dawson lies a dynamo of energy and ideas responsible for many of the successes of this Senior class. Although tiny in size, her efforts are big and her cooperation is never-ending.

Here is a track man! Whether it's tracks on paper or tracks on the field, secretary Dan Blanton does the job to a T!

"Money, money!" has been the exultant cry of Senior treasurer Tom Watt for the year of '53. Here he proudly displays the results of his labors.

Prepared For Destinations

As the year 1953 draws to a close and Seniors anticipate Honors Assembly, stately, serious Baccalaureate, and that magic sounding word "graduation," suddenly before their eyes flash four wonderful years at West—the Freshman year of the Hat Dance, bingo at the carnival, and the Frosh sponsored all-school dance; the Sophomore year with another Hat Dance and booth in the carnival; A Junior year with that superb "Afternoon in Paris" assembly, the "Mad-Hatter's Hop" sports dance, and a never-to-be-forgotten Prom. They feel increasingly proud of their list of achievements as the first class to begin as FLEDGLINGS and finish full-winged THUNDERBIRDS in West. They look back over an unusually high record in the fields of art, sports, scholarship, music, leadership, and they realize a united West High faculty and staff have tirelessly and completely prepared them for their FLIGHT TO UNKNOWN DESTINATIONS

From the first year through the fourth, Mr. Robert Swanson has been a popular sponsor of the class of '53. He was efficiently assisted by Mrs. Lily Murdock for the past two years. Together they planned with the Seniors, coordinated their efforts, and "cheered" them on to commencement.

Miss and Mr. Tuptoe, Jo Ann Hall and Clint Johnson, demonstrate a vaudeville routine in the Senior assembly.

John McCollough shows fellow Seniors Merlene Thorson, Sam Henrie, Gerry Dawson, and Paul Carpenter how easy it is to donate blood during the Seniors' blood campaign for our wounded soldiers in Korea.

Seniors-- Remember When?

(TOP) Remember when we graduated from our Freshmen balcony seats in assemblies to the long coveted bleachers of the Sophomores? And then as Freshmen, remember when the gals all went western during Rodeo time? West's first faculty-varsity basketball game provided laughs and jeers as the faculty beat the varsity. Remember the class of '50? They were so few in number they were able to sit in the middle of the gym floor during assemblies (RIGHT) "When It Rains It Pours" was the theme of a Junior table at the '52 Fem Food Frolic. Do YOU remember?

Juniors—Refueling, Checking The Their Wings I

Harvey Charnofsky, president of the class of '54, has an outstanding record of activities behind him. He is an honor student, has been active in student government activities, and has been a member of the varsity football and track squads for the past 2 years.

Janet Patterson is the charming Junior "veep" who has guided her classmates through many successful events during her three years as a class officer.

Gail Olson did a first-rate job as first semester secretary. Juniors kept her so busy pushing pencils that she wore three dozen and four down to the wood!

Mary Lee Moore proved to be such a whiz at balancing the books that the class of '54 has given her the post of treasurer for three years running.

Assets, Testing Expectation

Juniors embarked on the 1953 school year with "Kachina Kapers," a dance after the Tech-West football game; afterwards came the sale of Christmas corsages to help finance the Junior-Senior Prom. In March a Junior class of talented singing, acting, and dancing stars presented the "Showboat" assembly.

Of course, the all-important activity during the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, when Juniors caught Seniors in a spell of the "Old South" with the traditional plantation setting of pre-civil war time. Successful Juniors are already making plans for a "best year yet" when they will be '54 Seniors.

Mrs. Susie Smelser and Mr. Arnold Bereit ably guided the successful efforts of the Junior class. They were not only enthusiastic supporters, but were backstage workers as well.

Both the turkey and Lillian Estes showed a look of astonishment at the "Turkey Hop" as Harvey Charnofsky, Junior class president, presented the crated gobbler to his classmate.

Is it zany? Is it hilarious? It's Paula Adams doing an act flapper style in the Junior class assembly.

"Next Year Conscious"

Sophomores, Ground School For The Flight

Friendly Ronnie Newman has been an inspirational president of his Sophomore class. The kind of person you like from the first smile, Ronnie has not only led but also worked alongside his classmates in their year of successful activity at West.

Always on the job with that color and sparkle, Lily Yee has been an asset to her class as vice-president for two consecutive years. This quiet worker with a magnetic personality has rolled up a considerable number of scores as an effective leader of students.

Blanche Hedges kept books for the Sophomore treasury. She was adept at collecting dollars and was always on a committee to plan "money" projects to finance future activities of her class.

Secretary Jerry Sanders records Sophomore class history with accuracy and enthusiasm. Friendly and hard-working, he has gone beyond his duty of office in bringing popularity and honor to his '53 class.

Birds, Train Called Life

The 1953 Sophomore Class set out on a year of adventure with a Valentine candy sale on Friday the 13th, which, contrary to superstition, was not an unlucky day for them. Immediately afterwards they sponsored the "Black Heart Hop," a holiday dance.

Sophomore class sponsors are Mr. Robert Hart and Miss Louise Breckerbaumer. Much of the smooth running organization of the Sophomore class has been due to the ability of these sponsors to plan programs and coordinate activities.

'55 Looms In Their Future

Reading, writing and making speeches, these Sophomores wend their way through second year English, a required subject.

Biology is an interesting subject for the Sophs. Here one of Mr. Stitt's classes is learning what makes us "tick."

Fledglings--Observing Charting A

Jack Geiger, conscientious and responsible Freshman class president, has been the "man behind the gun" in all those thunderous, roaring successes of the 1952-53 school activities of our West High fledgling members.

Ann Sherer, Freshman "idea girl" vice-president, is not only a talented acrobatic dancer who can entertain West High audiences by the hour, but a busy "behind the scenes" gal who helps prepare the stage for others.

Kazuka Sagawa, small, tennis-playing Freshman class secretary, keeps the record with an able pen. Always on the "court" at any Freshman activity, Kazuka not only marks up the scores, but also cheers her class on to a winning spirit.

True to the Rountree tradition, Isabelle is already on the first rung of the ladder in student leadership at West. As Freshman treasurer, Isabelle collects dues with a friendly but firm smile and works with sponsors on plans for their class "money" future.

Surveying, Good Course

The seven-hundred-and-eighty-five Freshmen who entered West's doors last fall soon lost their so-called "green-ness" and settled down to the business of becoming West High citizens. The first Frosh school activity was the successful Hoopster's Hop, an after-the-game dance. Then these versatile newcomers presented a hilarious assembly titled "Two Sides of the Story." The first half pictured the "Lowly Freshman" as the "Mighty Senior" might see him; the last half, "As We Really Are," fully convinced all West of the fine talent of this new class. And they have not stopped; plans for the years ahead are already under way.

Sponsors who have guided the Freshmen, taught them school tradition and policies, and helped them feel that they are THUNDERBIRDS working together for the good of West are Mrs. Clara Walker and Mr. Bernard Magnusson.

Seven-hundred-and-eighty-five strong, the Freshman class gathered together to listen to campaign speeches from their shaky-kneed classmates. The assembly was one of the first functions of this up-and-coming class.

One of the most hilarious assemblies of the year was the Frosh class assembly. Anita Conner depicted a typical Freshman singing, "I'm a Lonely Little Petunia in an Onion Patch." Real onions were used to emphasize the strong feeling of the song.

"Grab a paint brush and join me," seems to be the password in the active Art Department. Students are kept busy from September to June making posters, creating decorations for school dances, and preparing entries for inter-scholastic art competition besides regular class work.

"Is it for real?" That's what biology students ask each other as they study life-like plastic models of frogs, birds, and organs of the human body. Modern microscopes aid in close-ups of hair, fingernails, skin and various cell structures.

"Take a letter." Those are familiar words to students in the Business Education Department. Typing, shorthand, clerical work, and learning to operate modern office equipment are only a few of the advantages of West's business training.

Speech and Drama department at West is active the year 'round. Their calendar is well filled with production of school plays, follies, and competition in drama festivals, oratorical contests, and debates.

Classroom studies in the English department range from Shakespeare to Somerset Maugham, simple verbs to compound predicate adjectives. One of their newest Senior activities is preparing the daily news bulletin for the public address system.

Not all these Freshmen are studying. Many of them are thinking about trips to local newspapers, dairies, radio and television stations, and Civil Defense headquarters. Freshmen Social Study groups major function is teaching students to become better citizens.

Physics students work industriously on their weekly experiment and learn the mysterious secrets of the earth's forces. One of the department's greatest achievements is the "ham" radio station built by students under the watchful eye of Mr. Tom Thorpe.

The study of Spanish, French, and Latin is not always on the serious side. A touch of culture and history of Mexico, France, and Rome are mixed with the knowledge of the languages. Result?—better understanding of peoples in other countries.

Imaginative students in Leather Arts show their skill in designing and making hand tooled bill-folds, belts, and purses. Their co-workers, the Plastic Arts classes, create gay pen holders, paper weights, earrings, pins, and many other useful items with bright flower centers.

Senior Social Study classes hear speakers from all walks of life. Here we see Rabbi Krohn telling of his trip to Mediterranean countries.

"Pianissimo." Mr. Beryl Folks explains a music passage to the orchestra as they prepare for one of their many appearances.

Senior Social Study classes are always busy listening to speakers and seeing movies about national government. Aside from regular class work, students take part in current events discussions and learn about internal problems of foreign nations.

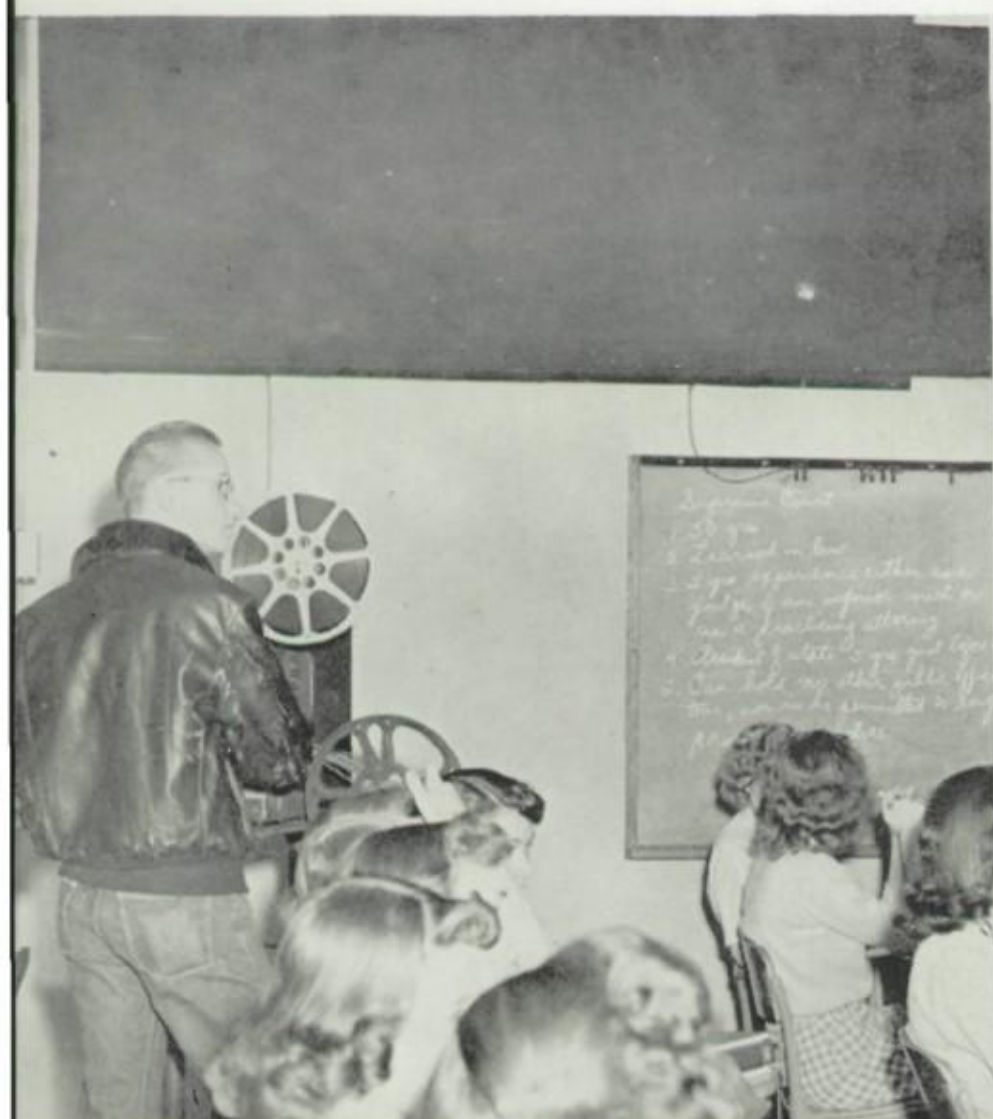

It is not unusual to see an audio-visual boy scurrying down the hall with a film projector, tape recorder, or phonograph. Audio-visual students are well trained in the use of newest equipment.

Most bustling spot on campus is our modern Library. Colorful book displays, newest lighting and efficiency mark the library as an active part of the West High plant.

"Movie today!" One of the trained operators from audio-visual shows an educational film to an American Problems class. By bringing political and foreign activities into the classroom through films, students get a better understanding of world affairs.

Colorful displays in the Library make a trip for a book doubly interesting. Most visited shelves are those in the show case which display bright rock collections, prize-winning stamp collections, and stuffed animal specimens.

A student of the solid geometry class explains the process of finding the volume of a frustum of a regular pyramid to other members of this advanced mathematics class.

Boys' Physical Education Department has an active athletic schedule from September to June. Warm weather games include football, baseball, soccer, and track. When the mercury drops, sports center around badminton, ping-pong, and basketball.

Fun in the sun means an active game of hockey, volleyball, softball, or basketball in the Girls' Physical Education Department. Archery provides girls with a skillful athletic passtime. Other classes are conducted in modern and folk dancing and fencing.

Rounding up news for the Sun Dial and learning basic fundamentals of becoming a good reporter are part of a journalism student's training. Well known speakers and visits to city newspapers were also on the agenda for this industrious class.

Committee men and counselors of the Hourly Study Council take the place of teachers in taking attendance and keeping order in the Student Supervised Study Halls. Standing in the LAST ROW are: Wayne Van Stelle, council president, Sally Randall, secretary; and Bill Anderson, vice-president.

Taking into consideration that some Thunderbirds might not know the best ways in which to study, student Study Guidance counselors learn methods to make studying easier. Photography Chairmen

Eight months of hard work and long hours of cutting and pasting pictures, soliciting ads, drawing cartoons, and writing copy went into making the 1953 Westerner the best yet. Barbara Goor, editor-in-chief, was the sparkplug of the entire staff, and under her guidance the annual was completed on schedule.

Pictures And Paper Work

Many departments contribute to Westerner production. Editorial staff members were constant companions to the paper cutter and rubber cement bottle for cutting and mounting pictures and to the typewriter for writing copy.

Photography students were kept busy running about school posing, snapping, developing, and printing pictures. The beautiful Indian designs on the section pages required tedious work and can be credited to the Westerner art staff headed by Jack Haehl, who designed the cover, closing page, and drew all cartoons.

Practically everyone in Publications and journalism classes was a member of the ad staff and spent many hours seeking buyers for advertisements.

Writing copy for many Westerner pages were girls from the advanced Creative Writing class. Seated are Sally Ann Miller, Lorna Price, and Mathilde Rollow. Standing are Shirley Wright and Shirley Berry.

Don Stegner, assistant art chairman, designed the Westerner section pages. Aided by Mike O'Brenovich and students of advanced art classes, he also silk screened these colored section inserts.

The Sun

First semester editor Bob Peyton was head of the staff when the Sun Dial won its first All-American rating. Here he rereads the last issue bearing his name as editor-in-chief.

Official publication of West High, the Sun Dial, is a topic of conversation every time it is issued. The Sun Dial covers all school news and features too. Bi-weekly it brings humorous jokes, features, news about clubs, military, girls' sports, and many other columns and stories to West students.

Dial—Newspaper

Barbara Mayfield, second semester editor, copy reads stories for the Sun Dial. Well edited issues came out while she was chief, and her staff produced fine papers.

Without the advertisement staff there would be no Sun Dial. They furnish the money on which the paper operates. Members of the ad staff are pictured here looking over copies of a Sun Dial: (ROW 1) Jacqueline Baker, Janey Parker, Annette Grandolfo, Marilyn Kerr, Michael Frost. (ROW 2) Betsy Patterson, Shirley Hedges, Skip Cunningham, Jack Redmond, Rausling Stancoff, Paula Adams, Edith Williams, and Donna Pace. Miss Ann Carpenter, business staff sponsor, lent valuable experience in keeping the paper out of the red.

Mr. Beryl Folks, director of the Thunderbird Band, has led the organization to many honors in his three years at West.

licated formations and resounding music

The team is discouraged, the cheering lags—but a peppy march from the band section will raise everyone's spirits.

"Here comes West!" And pass the spectators struts the Thunderbird Band, resplendent in maroon and white. Instruments glitter in the sun, feet rise in rhythm, and trumpet and drum sound the salute.

But marching in parades is not the only concern of the West High Band. Throughout the year a varied list of activities keeps these musicians busy. There are field stunts at football games, pep bands at basketball games, programs at West and other places in the valley, and above all, the Annual Spring Concert. The Spring Concert was held this year on April 10, in Phoenix College auditorium with a program ranging from Rossini to ragtime. Many individually outstanding members contribute to the success of the concerts.

Mr. Richard Philabaum, assistant band director, brought to West new ideas for the marching and concert bands.

Strings—the backbone of the orchestra and its largest section is the strings. Here one finds the qualities that makes an orchestra great.

Winds—Woodwinds and brasses add color and strength to crashing chords and soft passages. This section lends contrasting tone qualities to orchestral music.

Holiday For Strings

West High has been justly proud of its orchestra in its first year. Although it was new and inexperienced at first, many hours of rehearsal have brought the group to more than favorable comparison with other school music organizations.

All was not hard work, however. The fun came when the orchestra presented programs on several tours. Grammar and high schools were visited, and on April 8, the orchestra gave a formal concert on the Sunnyslope Concert Series. West High enjoyed the orchestra at several assemblies.

Mr. Beryl Folks, director of the orchestra, has worked tirelessly to perfect his concert group. Orchestra is his first love.

Orchestra members are: (ROW 1 l to r) Galen, McEowen, Carter, Gettig, N. Skipworth, Sexton, Bartson, Roller, Boyd, Miller. Miss Weltha Graham, able director of Mixed Chorus, glances over a sheet of music. She has been leader of the group for West's four years of existence.

... And Music,

West High has a Mixed Chorus worthy of praise and recognition. These singing representatives from West displayed their talents at assemblies, P-TA activities, service club dinners, Christmas entertainment, and a host of other programs. Their abilities range from serious classical numbers to the most light-hearted rendition of popular songs. When these 100 students raise their voice in song, they command attention and appreciation wherever they are.

The Mixed Chorus impressively stand in their regular concert position. (ROW 1) Thompson, Lynn, Donati, Stoeker, Chiate, Randall, Costello, Nunamaker, Olson, Kerr, Freed, Dougherty, Wolf, Hopkins, Myhand, Roller, MacKeever, Smith, North, Parvero. Music, Music

West High, with its various choirs and glee clubs, has one of the largest and most adequate music departments in Phoenix.

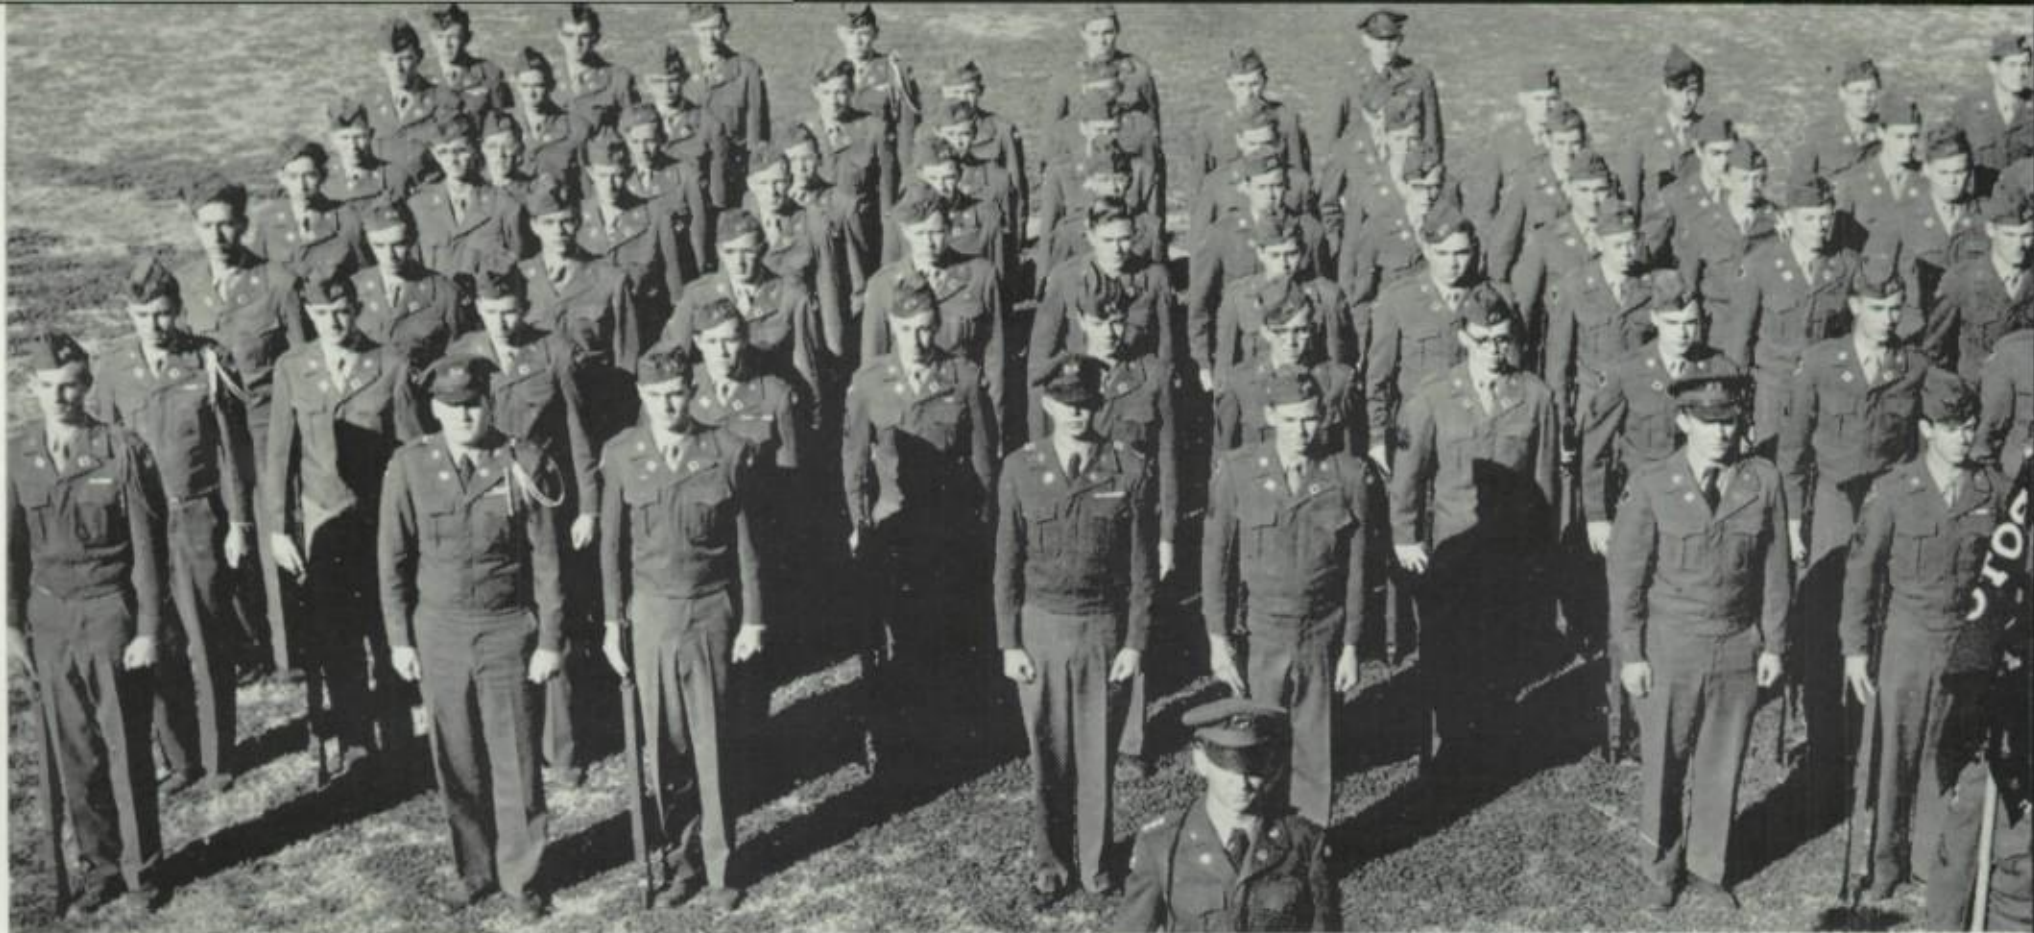

The A Cappella Choir in its first year at West has sung for many civic organizations and clubs throughout the city. Boys' Choir and other singing groups have also been representative songsters during the year.

Mathilde Rollow is the able pianist who has accompanied the Mixed Chorus for three years. She is assisted by Ann McKee.

Company "A", under the command of Cadet Captain Charles Stephens, forms behind a line of alternated platoon leaders: Lieutenants Scrivens, Martin, McCollough, and Mendenhall. This same formation was used by both companies when the entire West ROTC battalion was judged best marching unit in the Armistice Day parade.

About Face

Progressing over a period of four years from seventy-eight to two-hundred-and-thirty uniformed cadets, a sharp West battalion came of age along with the rest of the school in '53.

Highlights of this year included training in actual combat methods, utilizing automatic and individual weapons, and precision drilling climaxed by the Armistice Day parade, Military Night, and Federal Inspection.

(ABOVE) General Swift reviews the "troops." (RIGHT) R.O.T.C. boys present the colors. Cadets also raise the flag every school morning as the bugle sounds "To The Colors."

Preparing for an inspecting officer to "Troop the line," company "B," commanded by Captain Frederick J. Smith, stands in mass formation. Other company officers are Lieutenants Nord, Allan, Butterfly, Villegas, and Clements.

A Merry-Go-Round Of Entertainment

As election time had just passed, it was appropriate to feature the mascots of the Republican and Democratic parties. Irma Oyler (the elephont) and Dixina Price (the donkey) did a clever acrobatic act in their respective costumes.

A modern dance symbolizing "Wind" was performed by Doris Jean Foster, Barbara Nix, Judy Nelson, Heather Ferreira, and Carol Lovelace.

Sam Henrie, West Senior, not only emceed this year's Follies, but also portrayed roles in two scenes. Sam's perfect timing and clever ad-libbing helped keep the show running smoothly through all three performances.

West's third annual Follies, "Rhapsody in Color," sparkled with new faces, colored lighting, and beautiful sets for three talent-packed performances. Students and faculty together, under the direction of Miss Lucille Hicks, produced a show in the fall that set a box office record for West High productions.

In February we celebrate the birthday of the father of our country, George Washington. This scene compared the Revolutionary Army to our present-day forces. Actors are: (l to r) Jim J. Smith, Toby Lanning, Howard Polk, Jerry Sanders, Jay King, Jim W. Smith, and Leroy Gardner.

The majority of dances in the follies were directed by Miss Pricilla Prather.

Dick Gilbert, "Mr. Talent Incorporated," was a new addition to West this year. His splendid imitations of such famous singers as Tony Martin, Billy Eckstein, The Ink Spots, and Johnny Ray provided one of the many bright spots in the West High Follies.

As Seniors walk down the aisle to strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" and receive their sheepskins, a panorama of four happy years at West flashes before them — four years that seemed like so much time when they were Freshmen but have flown by so quickly. Memories of football games, dances, exams, assemblies, and the numerous other things that crowd into high school years. They are memories that will sustain in Senior's minds the name of their alma mater — Happy memories of West.

Valedictorians Margaret Edwards and Barbara Goor lead this year's Senior class in scholastic standing with a straight "I" average. This is the first year in West history that two valedictorians have been chosen.

Commencement

Sam Henrie, president of the Senior class, and Gerry Dawson, vice-president, try on their caps and gowns for size.

The Rotary Speech contest got underway in March with the topic "Manners and Morals of Modern Youth." This is an important contest at West as practically all English classes participate. City finals were held in the West High gym on April 23.

Tom Watt was West High's American Legion-sponsored Constitutional Oratorical contest winner. The contest involved two speeches—a ten-minute composition speech and a four to six-minute extemporaneous oration on some phase of the constitution.

(TOP) Freshman contestant in the Rotary Speech contest, Anne Driggs, gives her speech in the Frosh finals. (BELOW) Finalists in the American Legion Constitution Oratorical contest were Bonnie Greatman, Diane Divilbess, Tom Watt, West's winner, Lillian Estes, and Shirley Berry.

They Represent West

Members of the rifle team who have won many honors for West are: (ROW 1) Rodgers, Delucia, Glenn, Smith, and Hightower. (ROW 2) Bartholomew, sponsor, Wheat, Krause, Walbaum, Knight, Jencks, Peyton, Stephens, Hightower, and Scrivens.

West's rifle team has placed high in nearly every match entered. They were third in the city match, finishing behind Phoenix Union and eight points behind North. In the .30 caliber match with fifty-one contestants, our team placed fourth. Charlie Rodgers came in first in this match. They also qualified for the national matches. On the All-City Team we have four out of fifteen riflers with Rodgers as high man.

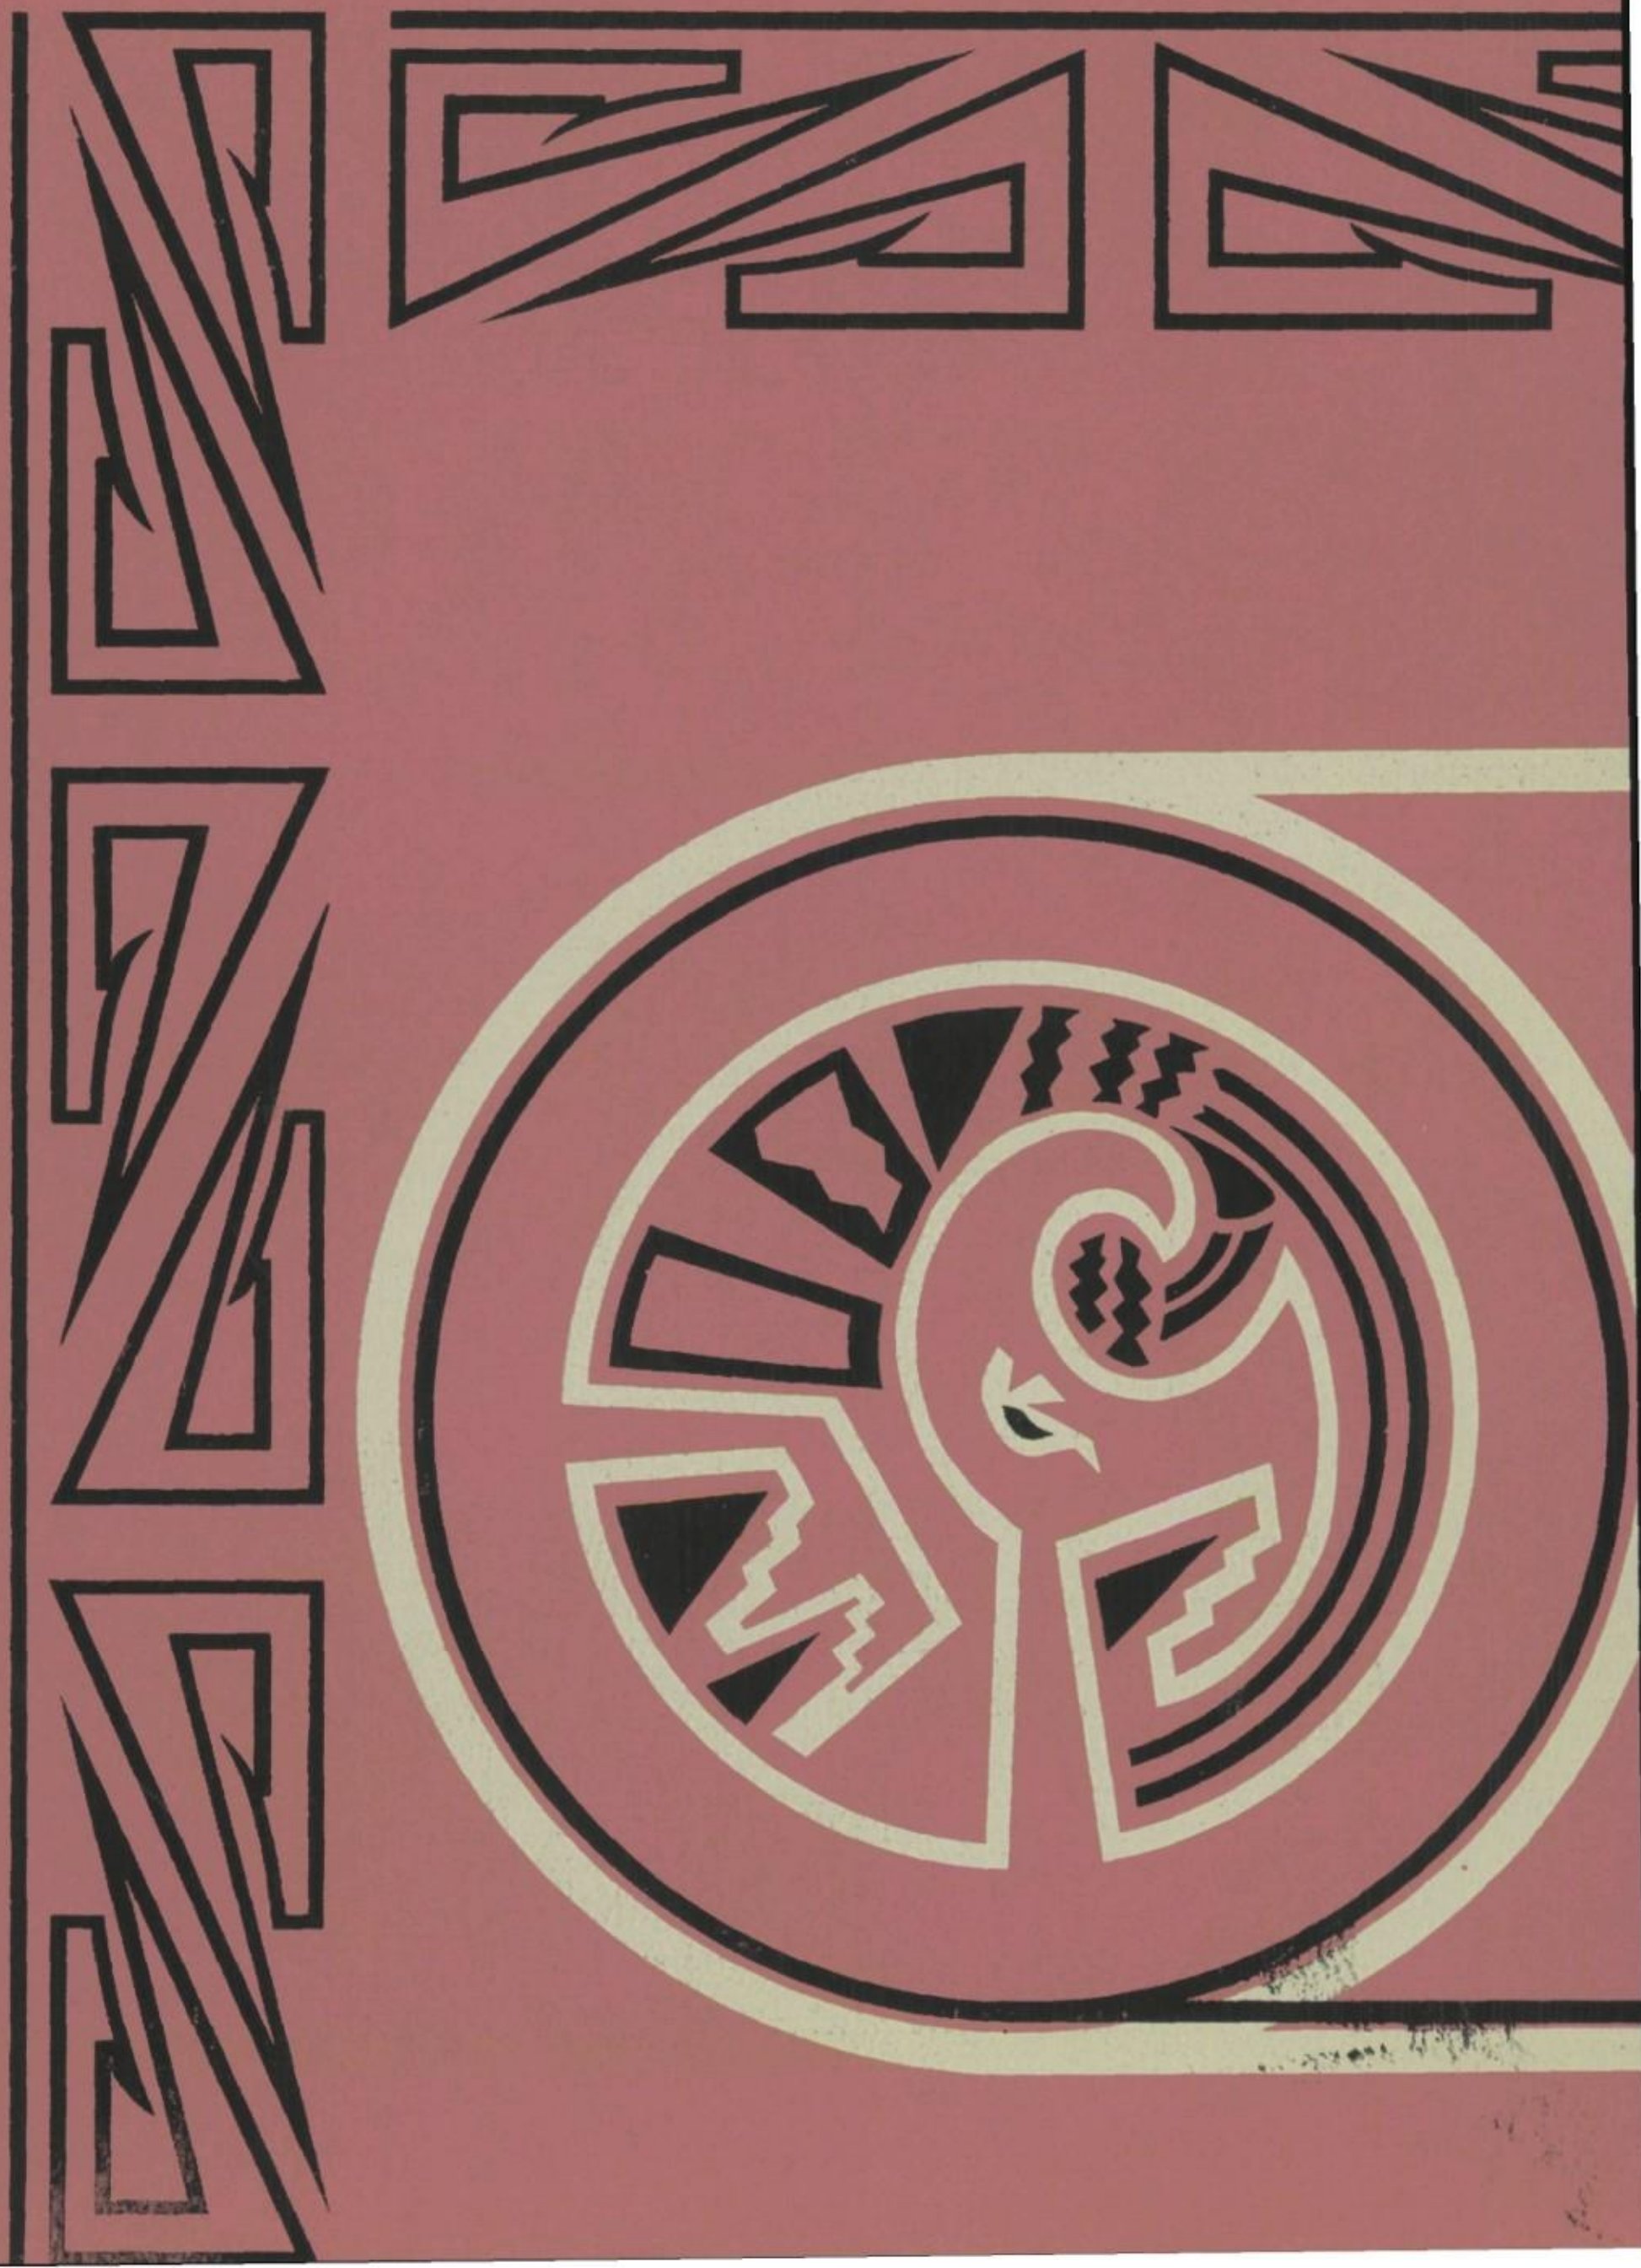

This flying class does more than just study model airplanes—students actually fly. The Phoenix Union High School system is one of the few schools in the country that maintains airplanes for student flight instruction. In conjunction with instruction at Phoenix College, students can eventually qualify for their commercial license rating or prepare themselves for successful armed forces flying careers. Mr. Arnold Bereit, former wartime flight instructor, is West instructor of this class.

Classes in electronics and physics enables West students to participate in ham radio work, through which they can contact other "Hams" throughout the world. Here Mr. Tom Thorpe demonstrates panel operation of West's station to Don Cook, Glen Baxter, Don Roberts, Frank Klink, and Finley Jones.

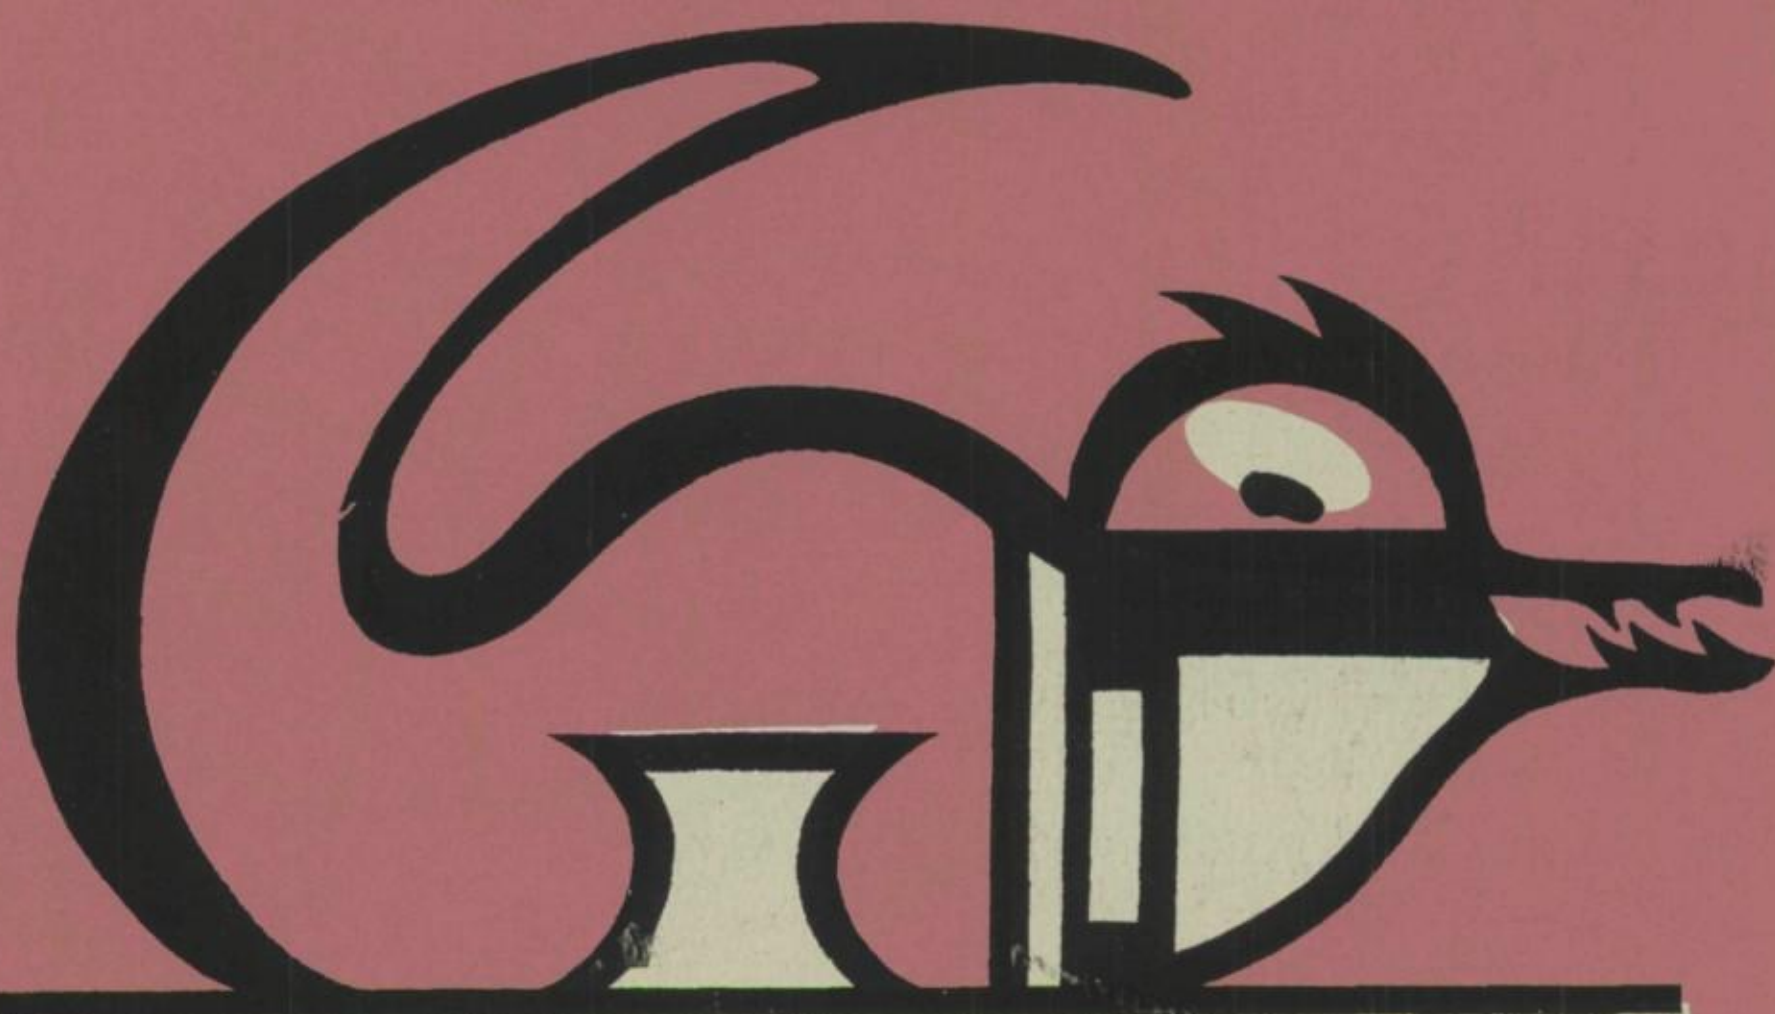

West has many unique classes of which they can be proud. Not many high schools in the nation offer courses in aviation, lapidary (stone cutting and polishing), plastic arts, leather arts, or radio. Students here have many opportunities to further advance their education that is often denied in other schools.

FOOTBALL

Important defensive pigskin players in formation on the line are: (l to r) George Vaughn, end; Mike Herzberg, tackle; Phil Glaze, guard; Russell Blake, guard; Carl Jacobson, tackle; Dick Byrd, end. A sturdy and hard working crew was this years football team and coaches who came from behind in the last half of the season to finish in fourth place in the Class A conference with a 5-4 season record. We also turned out some good material and had two players—end Richard Crookston and back Wicky Kay—voted to the second string All-State team.

Head Coach Bud Robinson and his grid-iron forces began a very slow season by losing their first four games but ended the relatively successful year with a 5-4 record. Fourteen veteran Seniors dominated the Bird's varsity roster.

Beginning the '52 football season much like the 1951 year, the Thunderbird pig-skin squad lost a close game to cross town rival North High 19-14 as time ran out with the Birds scratching on the goal line.

Our next battle was against a team which went on to win the State crown and place four men on the all state team. Tucson's tremendous power was too much for the four-year-old Thunderbird squad as they racked up a decisive 31-7 victory in Montgomery Stadium.

Next weekend we met the runner-ups to the state champions in Phoenix, the Mesa Jackrabbits, who marched goalward four times to win 28-0 and was the only team to keep Thunderbirds from finding pay dirt last season.

Robert Mitchell (46) puts the halter on St. Mary's Donnie Rideau (21) as teammate Henry Meza (17) attempts to block Jim May. Birds flying in to help are Russell Blake (32) and Phil Glaze (44).

West seemed to have found themselves against St. Mary's and made a terrific showing after dropping two first quarter touchdowns. Knights had to do some powerful playing in the last half to outlast the improving Thunderbird eleven in a close 12-7 contest.

By this time coaches and players got hot under the collar and defeated the hardluck Prescott crew in Phoenix. The Birds poured it on and sent the Badgers back to their mile high city with a 33-6 waxing.

Still light-headed from their first victory, the Birds traveled over to neighboring Glendale where they ran circles around the hapless Cardinal team who suffered a 47-0 beating.

However, All-Amerian Jim Pell and his red hot Yuma teammates clipped our wing feathers with a close 21-14 victory the next week.

Thunderbirds were riled enough for the second straight year to return to Montgomery Stadium

Our last battle, the annual Thanksgiving Eve game, proved to be a regular track meet as every one got in on the act and allowed our backfield stars to fly over the gridiron to amass a 40-7 victory over the hapless Phoenix Tech Hornets.

Tomorrow's Stars

Our football future is looking bright as Frosh Coaches Robert Cognac and Tony Ljubicich and Junior Varsity mentors Jim Gump and Cecil Crouch have turned out some outstanding talent.

The Freshman team ended a terrific season with a 5-2 record while the more hapless Junior Varsity squad finished their pigskin schedule with a 3-6 record.

West High's enthusiastic cheerleaders are credited with much school spirit during pep assemblies and games. Putting "pep" in pep assemblies, attractive pom-pom girls were ready to dance anytime they were called on. They performed at games, assemblies, parades, and in public places.

Cheerleaders and pom-pom girls were centers of pep at games and pep assemblies. Without these two groups the activities would have been very dull. Three cheers go to our spirited pep kings and dancers for their never ending work in keeping up team morale.

Chalk Talk

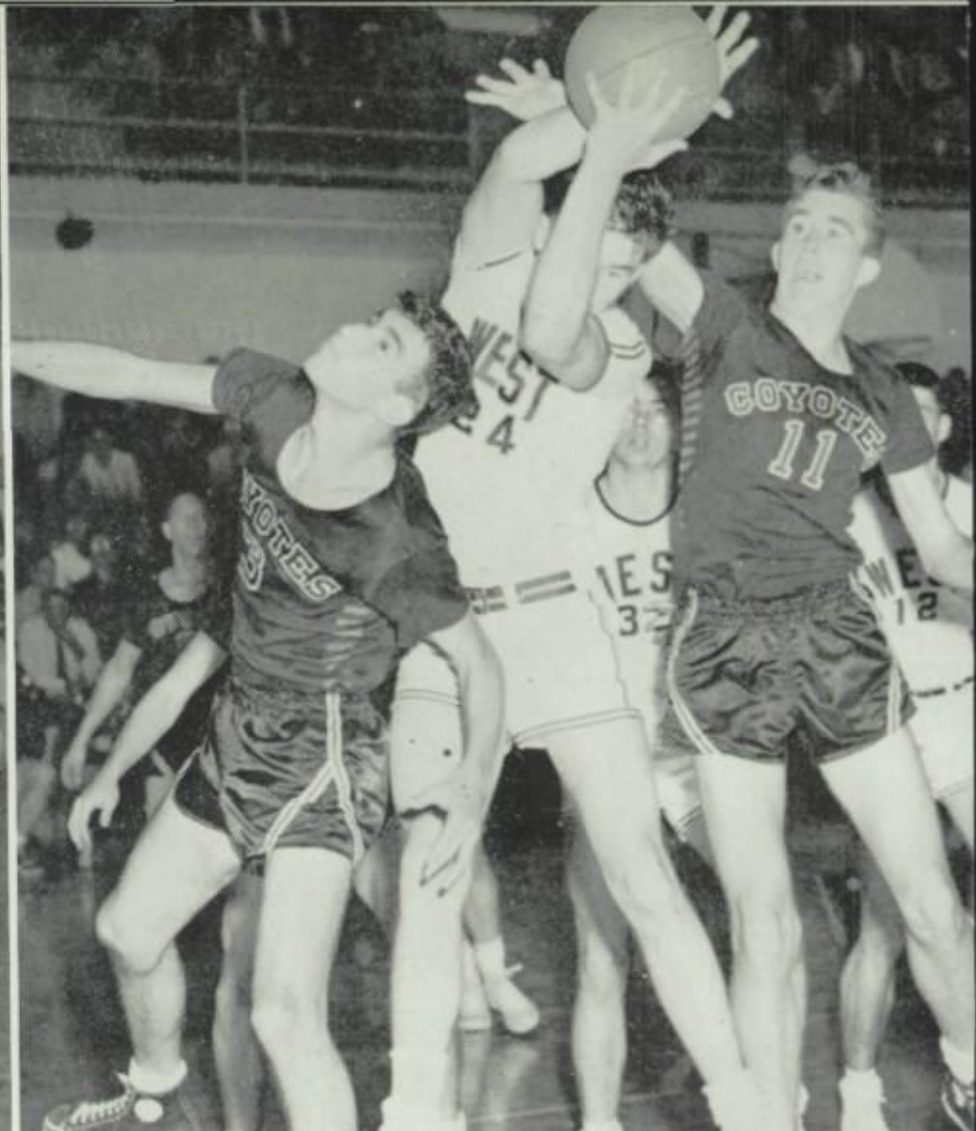

Through the past four years of fine basketball playing, our varsity court team under the leadership of Coach Link Richmond is one to marvel and praise.

Thunderbird students can be proud of Wicky Kay, who has been playing first string forward on the squad since the beginning of our history, and guard Terry Coyle, who in two years at West was voted to the All-City, All-Tournament, and two All-State teams.

West High can be very proud of its basketball coach and team, and the honors they have earned during the four years of our existence.

Terry Coyle (22) gets lose from St. Mary's for a shot as Neill Richards (behind 17) drives in hard for a possible rebound.

Our 1951-'52 state championship basketball team didn't quite live up to expectation this season even though they started off well, winning our first five contests before falling to Tucson.

However, the season was far from a total loss as the team ended their regular play with a 11-7 record. In conference games the squad wound up with an 8-2 standing which was good enough to put us in a three-way tie for second place. In City League play we didn't fare as well, falling to fourth place after leading almost all season. We finished with a 3-5 city record.

The team did finish with a moral victory as Terry Coyle was the only basketball player in the state to be voted to All-Conference, All-Tournament, and All-State teams.

Phoenix Tech won its first Class A Championship Tournament as West lost out after getting to the semi-finals. We opened the tourney against Yuma sending them home with a 60-47 spanking. However the next night we were pitted against the Hornets who squeezed past us 50-47 after Mesa downed Tucson 59-47.

In the championship game the Mesans faltered against the Hornets after a long hard battle and the Bees won the contest 47-45. North High took consolation honors with a 57-50 win over Phoenix Union.

A Bright Future

Coach "Brick" Brahams and his JV team ended its second straight successful season posting a 12-3 record. However, two of their three losses were offset by wins over the same teams earlier in the season. Carver was the only team to beat the JV's.

High scorers for the Fledgelings were Ronnie Zerbe with 138 points and a 9.9 average, and Delbert Cox who grabbed a 10.1 for the best season average.

The Frosh didn't do as well as they dropped nine games while winning seven. High scorers for Coach Jim Gump's Thunderchicks were Milton Naylor and Bob Clemmer.

Frosh team members are: (ROW 2) Tumlinson, Wolf, Arnold, Geiger, Naylor, McBade, Browder, Golden, Norris, and Coach Jim Gump. (ROW 1) Carlson, Ralph Bishop, B. Smith, A. Smith, Clemmer, and Roy Bishop.

After three years of hard luck pitcher-poor years, Coach Cecil Crouch turned out a team that was a strong contender for the state championship and was by far the best baseball squad in our history.

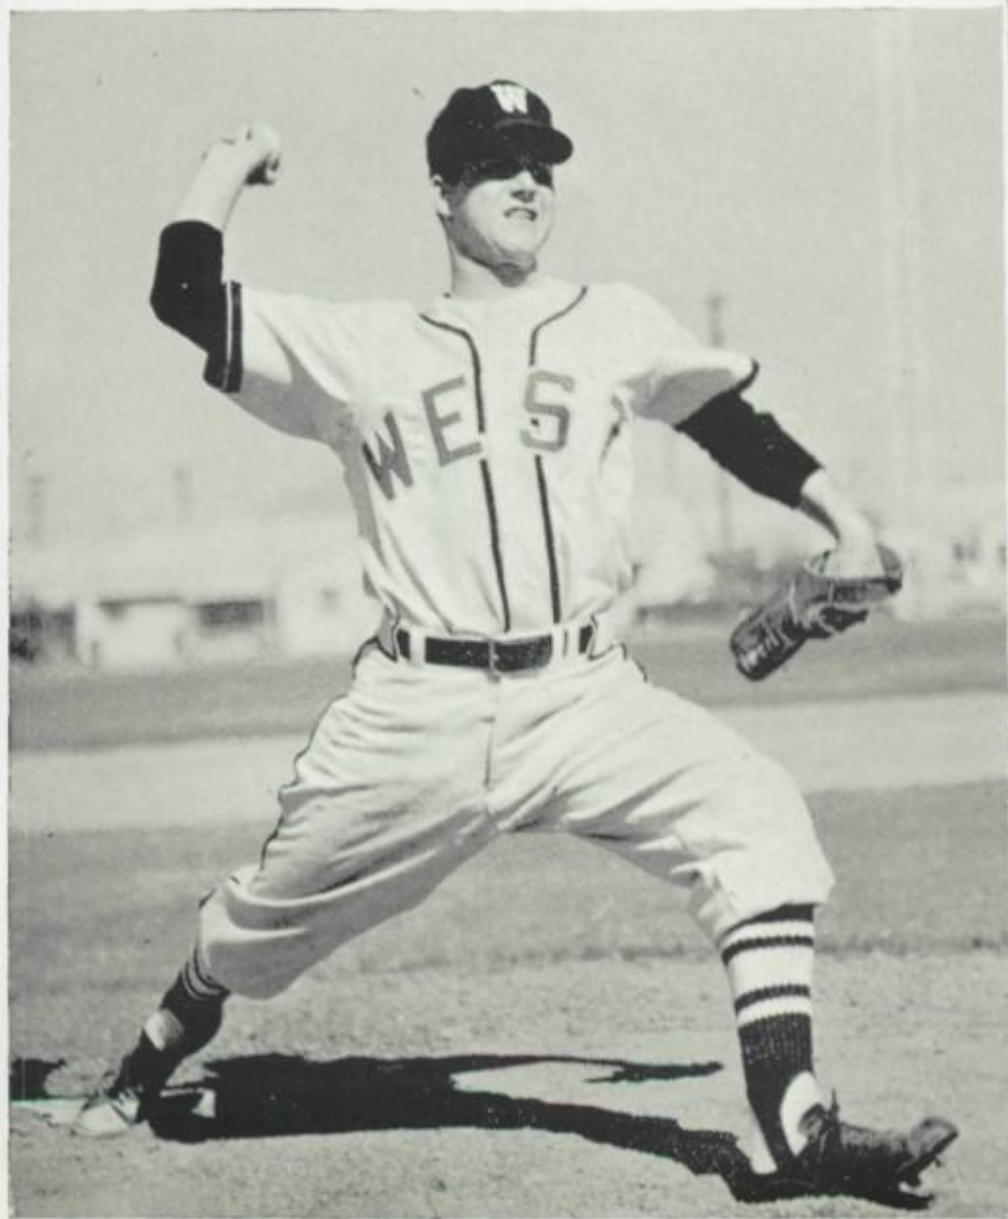

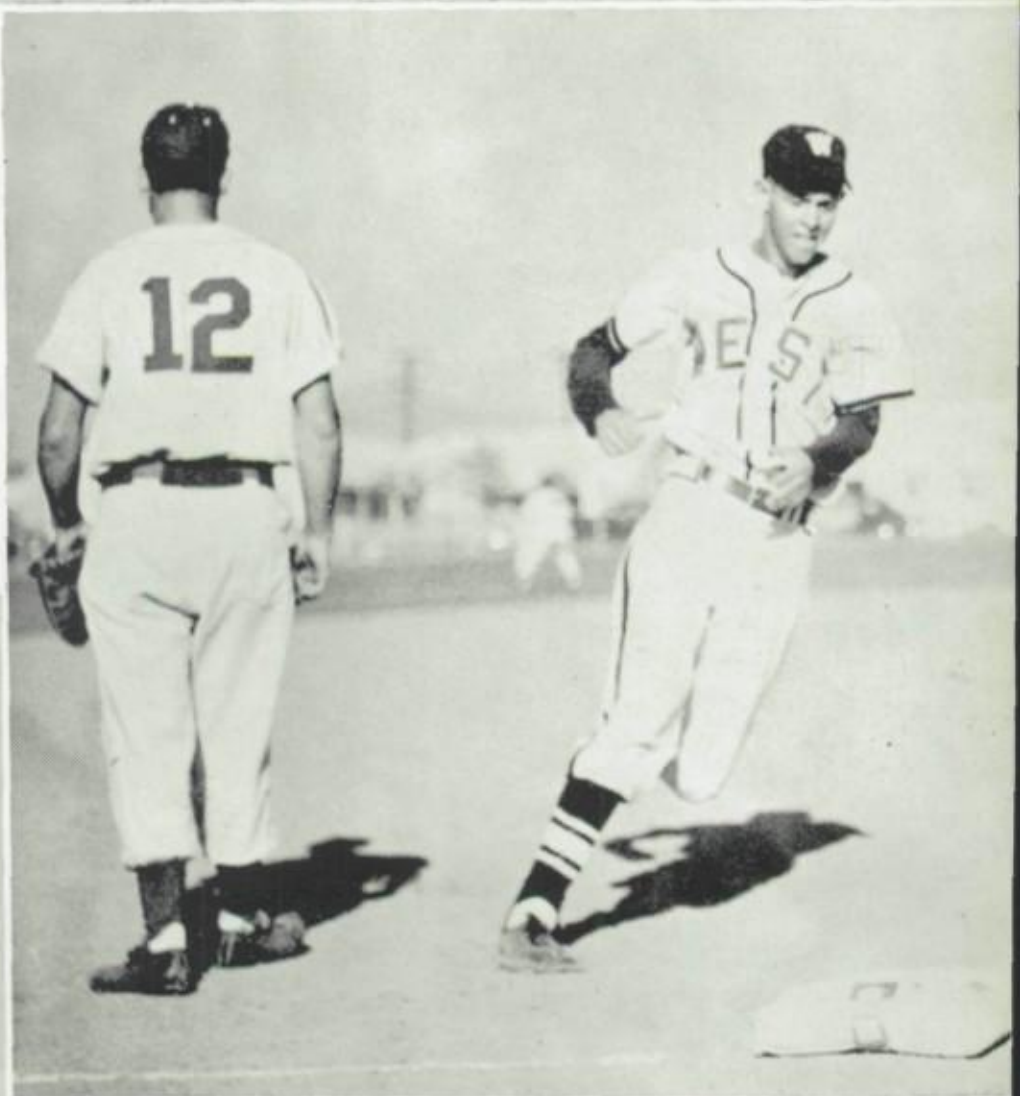

Because of publication deadline we are unable to sum up the season standings, but to April 10, the Thunderbird's diamond team boasted a proud 8-4 season record. In conference play we won three contests to one loss, just one-half game behind first place holders Tucson and Mesa. At that time we were holding a large lead in the city league race with a 5-2 record.

Even though we still had four conference games yet to play, our team was well assured of a position as one of the top four teams to go to the state tournament during University Week, May 14, 15, 16.

Our pitching staff was the best in West history. Bill Woods proved to be an outstanding hurler and earned himself a 2-1 record. Relief flinger Kenneth Schunn led the pitching staff with a 3-0 record. Rudy Whitmer won two contests while losing one to tie Woods.

Coach Cecil Crouch developed an outstanding team led by the fine hitting of shortstop Terry Coyle and his batting average of .341. Other outstanding Bird clouters were veteran Wicky Kay and lanky Stan Sack who both pushed Coyle all season. Doug Blakely also got his share of hits; long-ball hitter Bill Hatcher was always reliable in the clutch.

In defensive playing, Bill Hatcher proved himself to be one of the best backstops in the state; outfielder Doug Blakely kept the center pasture well under control.

Varsity next year will get much good material from the JV team which built up a 5-4 season record with four more games to play.

Last season we had a Freshman team of which West High was proud. They equalled a mark reached by only one other team on our campus — they were undefeated. To show their supremacy the Frosh nine racked out 10.3 runs per game while they held their opponents to 3.2 marks per game.

Track season up to April 10, wasn't as successful as expected due to the injury of star sprinter Harvey Charnofsky and the slow development of most of the squad aces.

We began the season by winning our first four duals, placing third in the city championship meet, and looking pretty sharp in the Glendale Invitational meet where Goodwin, miler; Vaughn, pole vaulter; and Ken Jones, a high jumper, won their respective events. The team was strengthened this season by two transfers, Jim Bell and Bob Brazell, both sprinters. Bell is also a hurdler. Bill Floyd began the season as a high jumper but was converted into a high and low timber runner near the middle of the season.

Pole vaulter George Vaughn and miler Walter Goodwin both were the state's best and pushed standing state records. In sprinting events Jim Bell, Bob Brazell, Richard Crookston, and Louis Becker paced the team; distance runners were led by Goodwin and 880 men by Paul Carpenter and Gordon Holt.

High jumper Ken Jones and pole vaulter George Vaughn paced the field event men with outstanding performances. Stanley Troxel proved valuable as a broad jumper with leaps near the 20-foot mark. Stanley Thompson was our only point getter in the discuss event, while Delbert Cox and Harley Van Kirk battled it out in shot put.

Ken Jones shows the high jumping form which sent him soaring over six feet this season. (BELOW) Jim Bell hands the baton to anchor man Richard Crookston in the 880-yard relay against Mesa.

Mile ace Walter Goodwin breaks the tape after an easy victory in a tri-way meet.

Richard Crookston edges teammate Bob Brazell in a 220-yard dash against Tempe on the Birds' oval.

West High's future is looking sharp in regards to the JV and Frosh teams. On the junior varsity track squad, team members were well rounded out even though their season wasn't too spectacular. Up to Westerner deadline, the team had racked up an even 2-2 record with four more meets to go.

Coach "Brick" Brahams' Freshman oval squad was of the same quality as the JV's owning a 2-3 season record with three more meets to go.

Due to numerous bits of bad luck such as illness, drop-outs, and transfers, West's boys' varsity tennis team didn't hit their quota of wins this year, losing 13 matches and winning 6.

West's crack doubles team won the Open Tennis Trophy for 1952-53. Dennis Lyon and Darwin Van Campen reached the invitational boys' doubles finals conducted by Judson School. The team, composed of five skilled girls and sponsored by Miss Doris Thomas, vied for tennis ladder positions the whole season. Girls on the team try to climb to higher positions on the ladder by challenging each other to a match. In matches with other schools, girls are pitted against opponents on the same rung of their respective ladders.

Virginia Allison placed first on West's ladder; Betty Field, Claudine Matthews, Eleanor Geiger, and Dotty Allison placed second, third, fourth, and fifth respectively.

West's Boys' Golf team has been state champs for two years straight and has been beaten only once during that time. They have remained undefeated this year. This truly is a record.

The team has played every golf school in the state and boasts an inter-state victory over Highland

All of the team were Seniors except John Larkin and Larry Wolfe, Juniors. Mr. Howard Beazley was the golf coach.

Clubs, clubs, and more clubs make up the activities of the GAA program this year with a club for almost every major and minor team sport that girls play. Clubs such as badminton, tennis, dancing, tumbling, table tennis, fencing, and golf specialize in just one sport, while the Leader's Club plays many sports.

During the year GAA has done many outside activities as a whole group. Before Christmas they all went to the Grand Canyon where they spent a fun-filled week-end. At the end of the school year, GAA sponsored a successful slumber-party with many girls in attendance.

Proof of the fact that West has the prettiest girls in town is the popular Productions Class. Miss Priscilla Prather, dance instructor, has a fine record in leading this group.

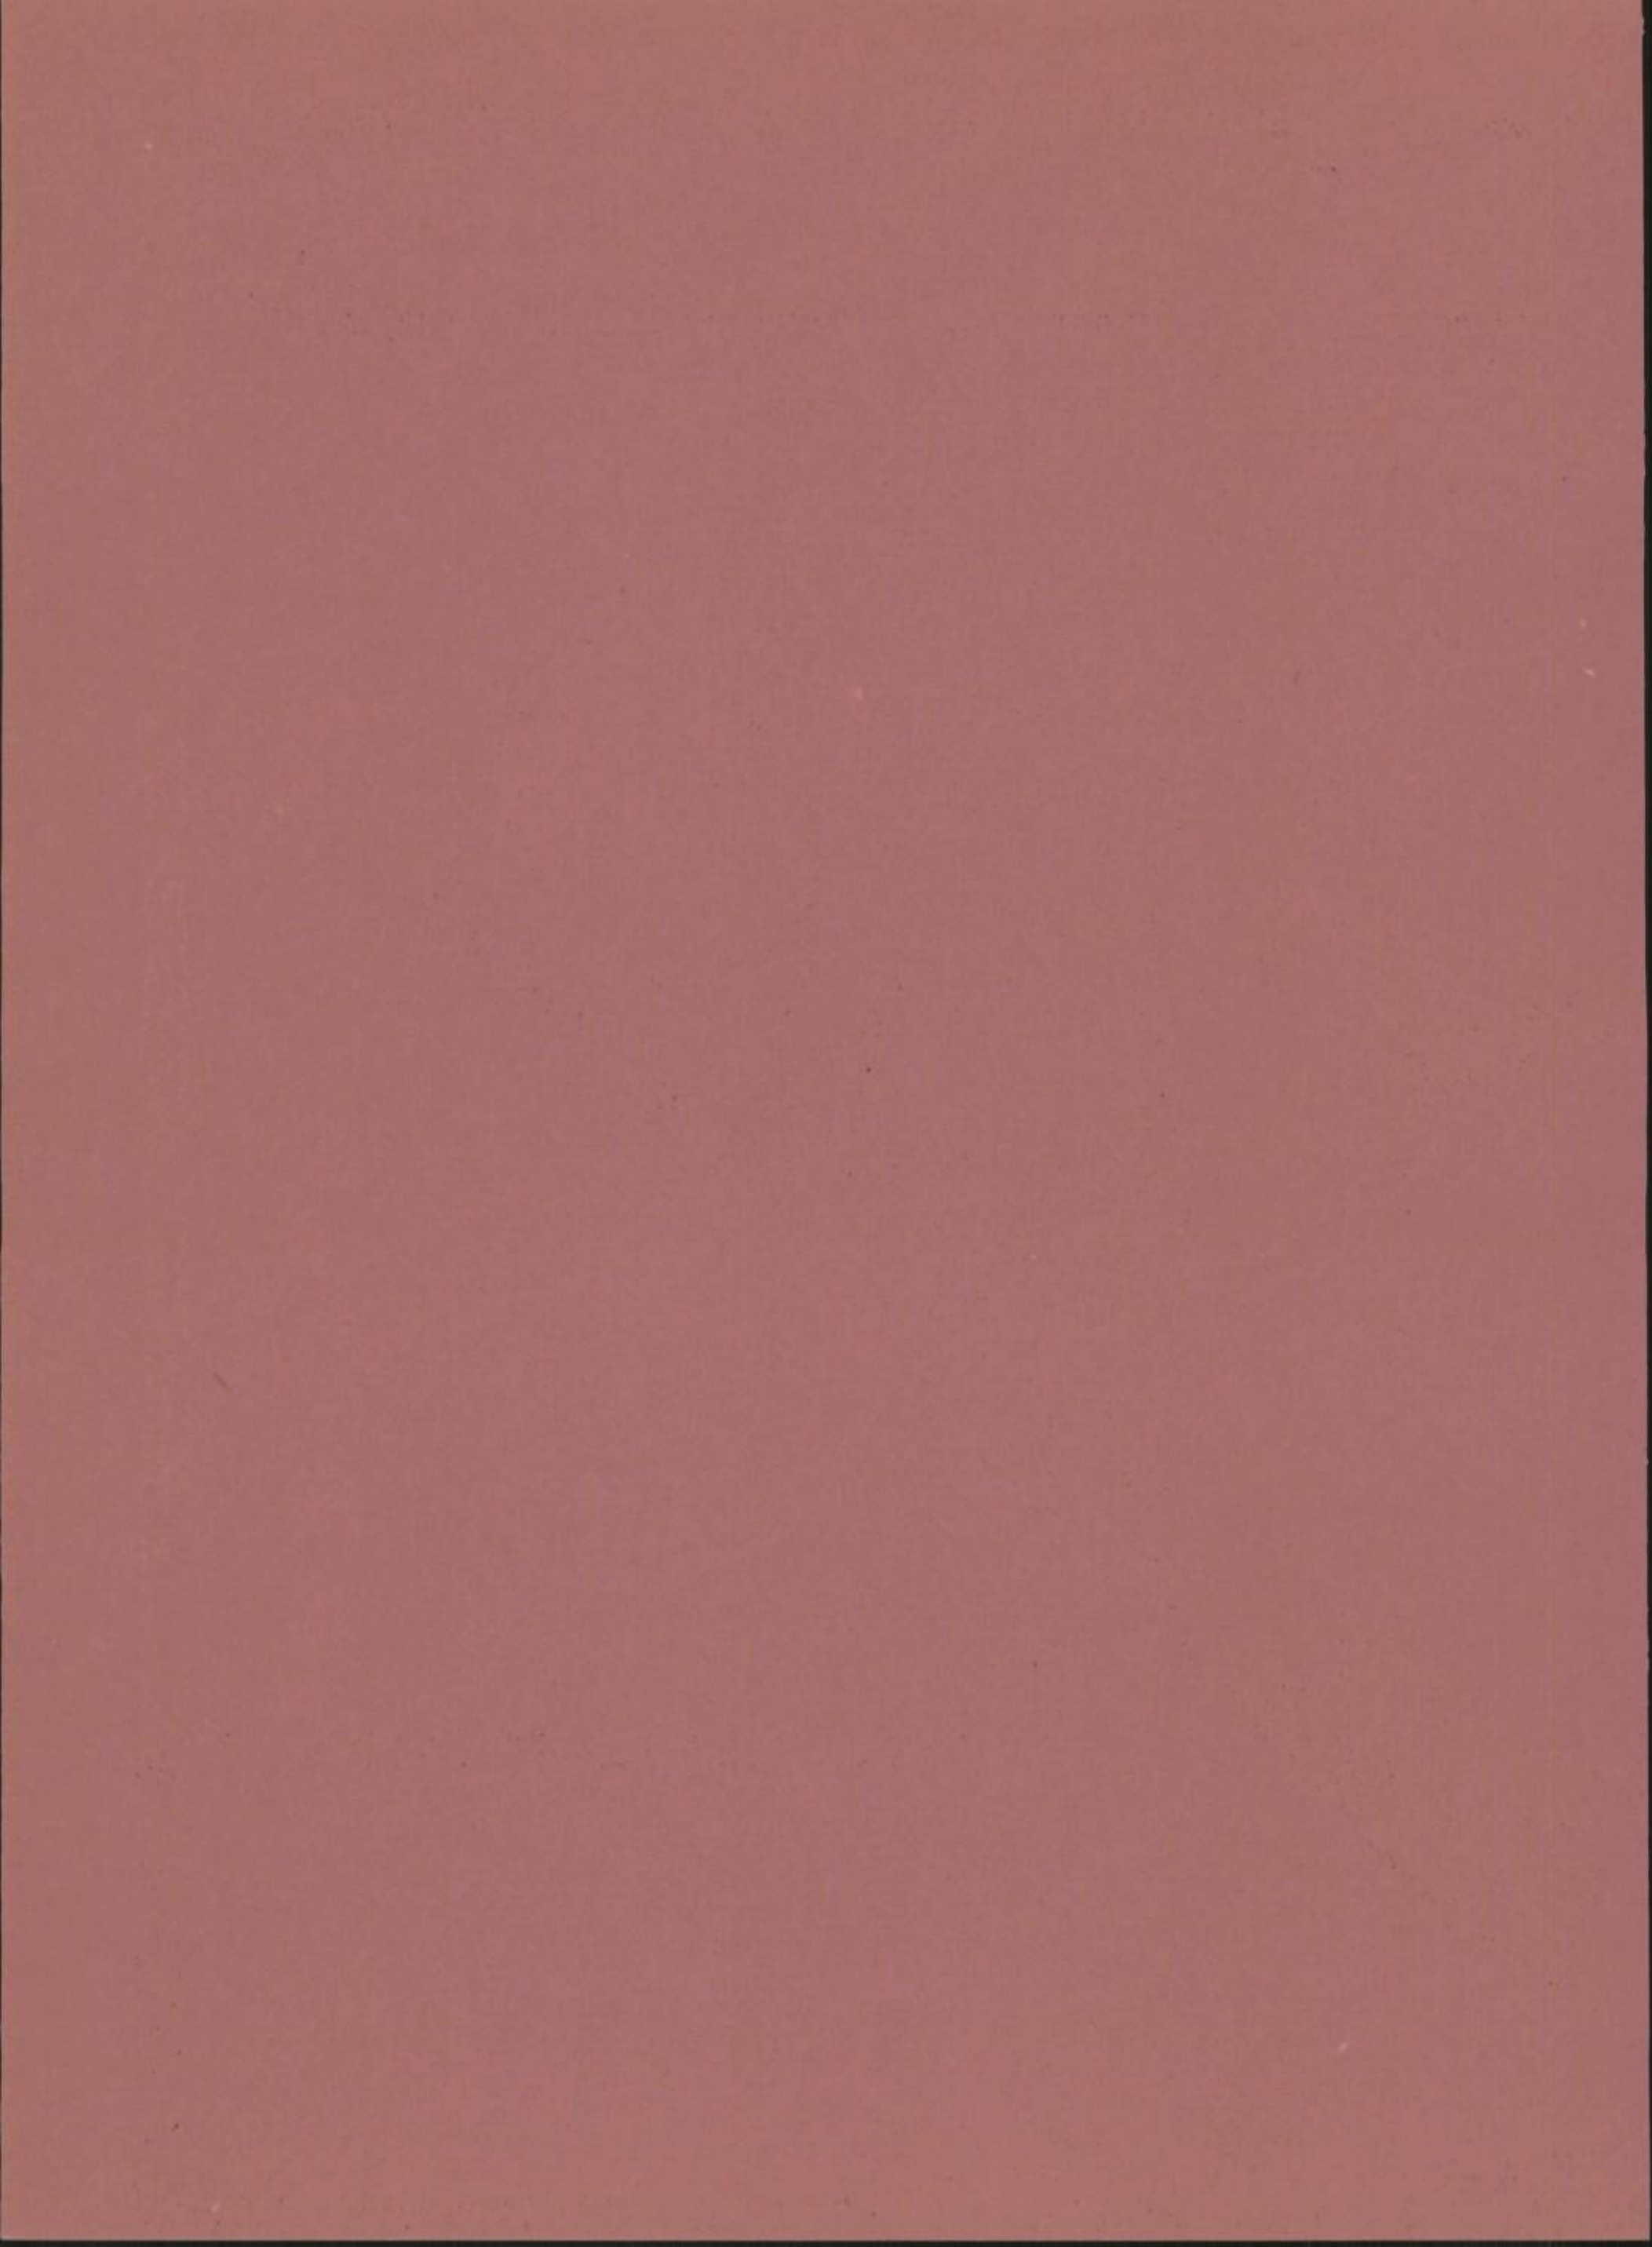

"En Garde." These words are fast becoming familiar with West girls taking physical education. A brand new sport this year, fencing has taken its place as a favorite among girls. Under a very active GAA program, many girls have taken part in varied sports. Outside of regular classroom activities, GAA has organized outstanding clubs for the sports-minded girl.

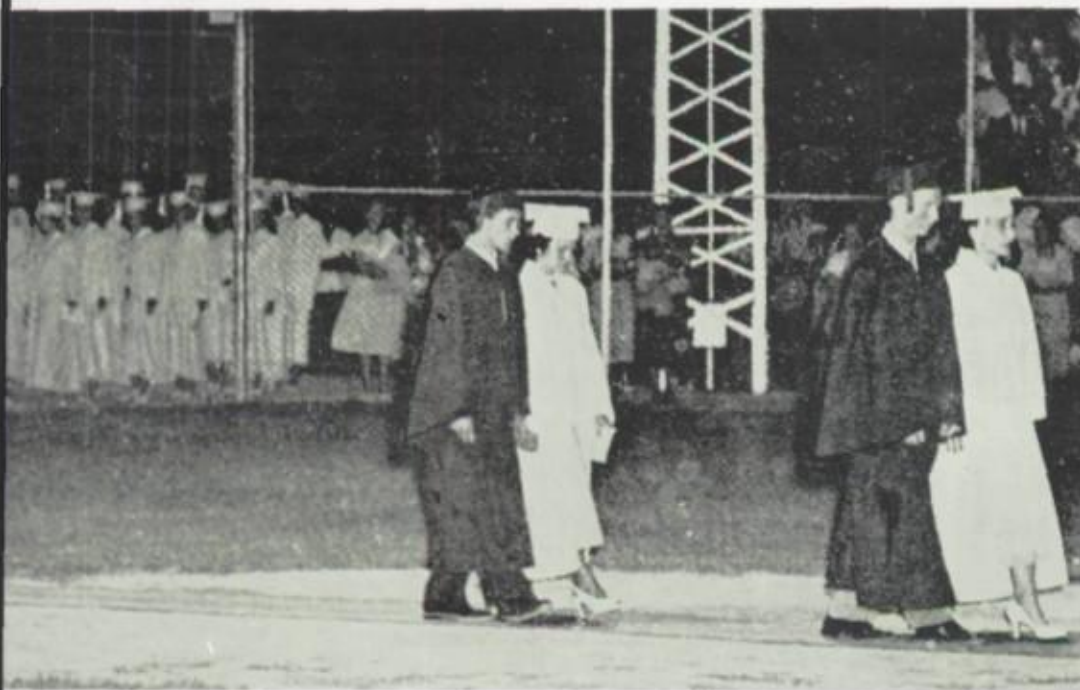

STUDENT LIFE

One highlight of each year is graduation ceremonies. For the first time graduation exercises were held in West's new stadium.

Graduating seniors marched solemnly to the strains of Edgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," played by the West High band.

Commencement—Class Of '52

Dr. E. W. Montgomery, superintendent, introduced Principal Stone in preparation for presenting the Class of '52.

Darrell Fleishman, valedictorian, addressed the Class of '52, parents, and guests. His speech emphasized the importance of the school as a builder of better citizens.

Registration day offers students a chance to see old friends and make new acquaintances, although Freshmen seem to have difficulty in keeping from getting lost and trampled by more experienced upperclassmen.

West High boasts the unique teacher-class selection system. Students are given their choice of classes, hours of the classes, and their course instructors. Through every possible means, registration is made simple. By this system students are completely registered, activities and hobbies classified, and personal information filed in a little over an hour.

Homecoming Royalty—

Audrey Viliborghi, crowned West's first Homecoming Queen, smiles radiantly as she stands in the center of her four attendants—Marilyn Poppino, Jane Shupe, Jo Ann Carlson, and Pat Raisin. Audrey was chosen by a student-faculty committee on the basis of beauty, personality, and poise.

—A Tradition Begins

West's first Homecoming on November 14, was an exciting event highlighted by the selection and crowning of a queen, the football game with Phoenix Union, and a big Homecoming Dance after it. The resourceful Boys' League sponsored the affair, which will be an annual celebration, at West.

Candidates for Homecoming Queen were nominated by Senior homerooms; a faculty-student committee selected the winner on the basis of 25% poise, 25% personality, and 50% beauty. While the Thunderbird band played "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and formed a gigantic heart during half-time festivities, Audrey Viliborghi was crowned in full regal splendor.

Two convertibles carried the royalty onto the field for crowning ceremonies. Our football victory over the Coyotes was celebrated at the Homecoming Dance in the gym after the game.

Xmas At West

Each year students join in the Yuletide spirit and decorate a large Christmas tree placed in the main lobby. In order that others may enjoy Christmas, homerooms sponsor food and clothing drives for needy Phoenix families.

Pom-pom girls presented their interpretation of "The Juggler and the Lady" in the Christmas assembly. Costumed as Pilgrims, the girls offered their gifts to Mary Magdalene. On the same program, the faculty men's chorus sang favorite seasonal songs.

Encore . . .

Anything can happen in West assemblies — and does. (TOP) Vaudeville made a comeback in the Senior assembly as Monte Kobey and Fred Cross gave their rendition of "Five Foot Two." Other assemblies included presenting athletic awards and Freshmen advertising their "Hoopsters Hoop." (BELOW) a colorful and joyful assembly was the Christmas program given in part by the mixed chorus.

Coronation Day on New Year's was a happy day for pretty Diane Roth, crowned Queen of the 1953 Salad Bowl by Diana Laird, 1952 queen from West. Diane, chosen for beauty, poise, and personality, won over princess candidates from every school in the state. She regally wears the crown for West.

Salad Bowl Royalty—Our Second Queen

Lucky Thirteen. Diane Roth, 1953 Salad Bowl Queen, will well remember that thirteen was indeed her lucky number New Year's Day, 1953, as she was helped down from the huge copper salad bowl in Montgomery Stadium by the captains of the two competing football teams.

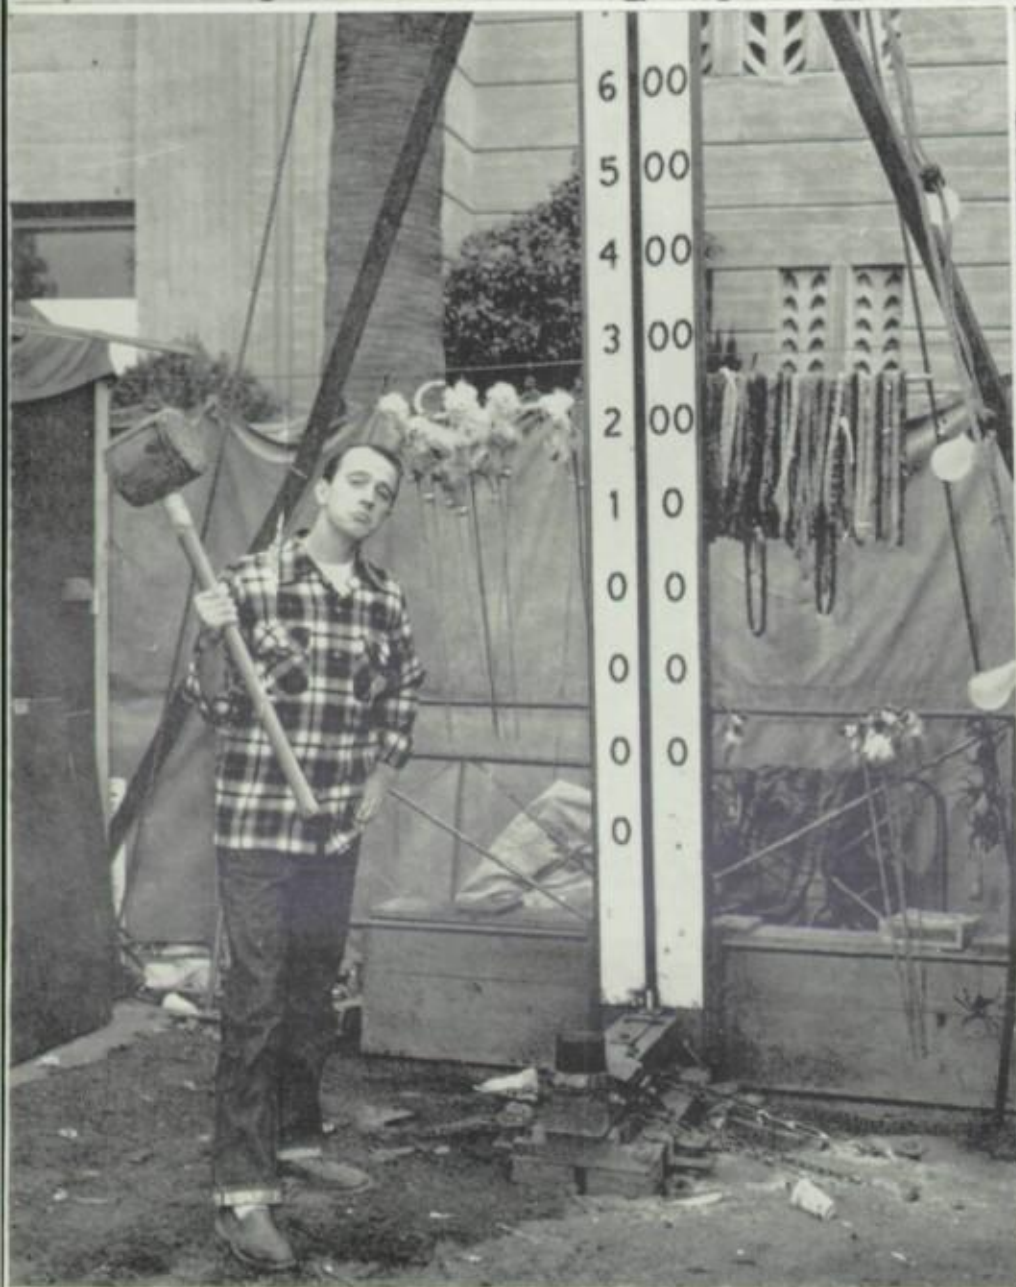

Flashing a smile of victory, Diane starts down the royal carpet to accept the crown. Her thirty-two Princess from all over the state are in the background.

Diane Roth proudly accepts the coveted crown of copper and turquoise from Diana Laird, 1952 Queen. Judged on beauty, poise, and personality, we can well see why Diane was given this honor. West High is proud of its Salad Bowl Queen.

What Will They Do Next?

Girls' League Presents: "The Pagoda Ball"

Emerald Evening was as enjoyable this year as always. Themed "Pagoda Ball," the decorations of silver dragons, twinkling Chinese lanterns, and large pagodas around the dance floor met the standards set by past Girls' League formals. A typical example of the fun had by all is a view of the "Bunny Hop."

Always an important part of Emerald Evening is the receiving line. Two Chinese-clad girls issuing programs were a unique feature of the dance. Receiving are Dean Eleanor Fullington, Warner Lepin, Paula Adams; Bob Mueller, Sue Driscoll, Janie Shupe, Terry Coyle are couples just entering the dance. Audrey Viliborghi, Larry Riggs, Ann Miller, and Harry Asbury complete the line, and Ellen Lucas and Linda Sponsel are the program girls.

A high point of the evening was the prize waltz. Audrey Viliborghi, League president, presents the coveted trophies to Irving Miller and Carol Lovelace. The dancers swayed to the music of Dave Kahn and his orchestra. Entertainment was provided by Dione West's dancers and Dina Donati who sang two Oriental songs.

Entertainment Galore...

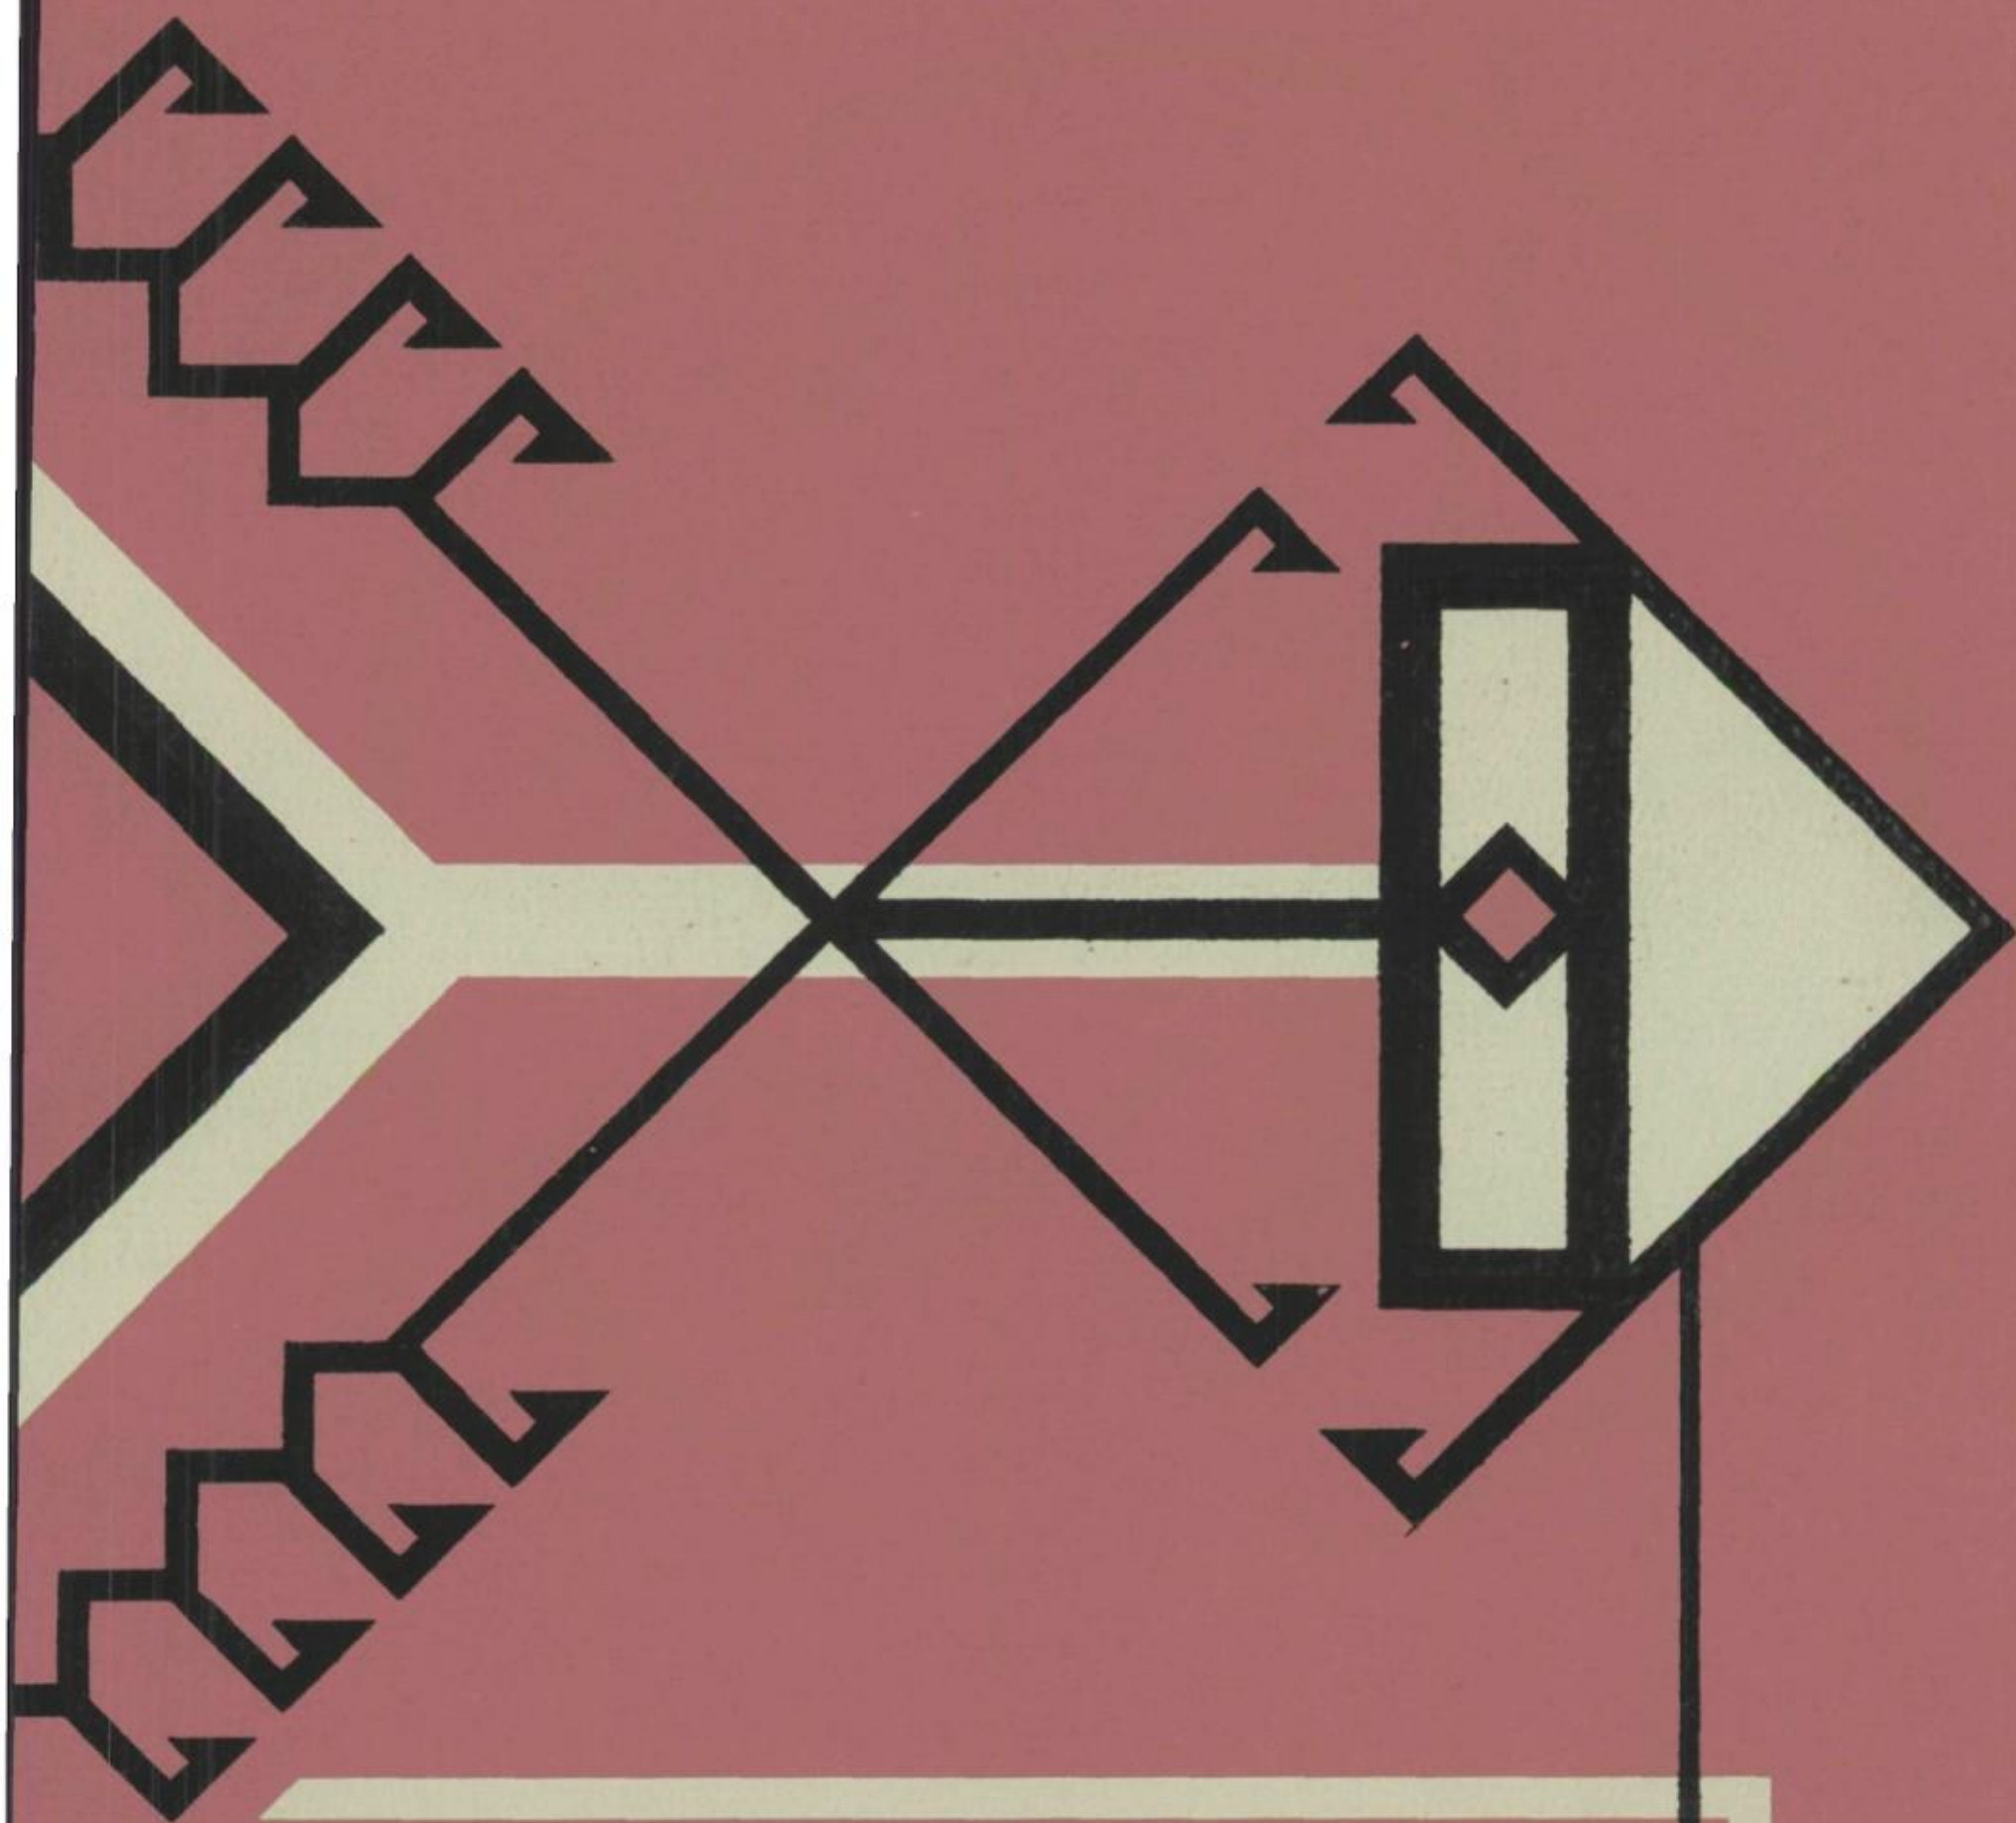

Exchange assemblies prevailed in the spring semester as Chandler, Phoenix Union, Glendale, Phoenix College, and Mesa performed for us. There were also the Rotary Speech assembly, the hilarious P-TA program, and last but not never least, the impressive Senior honors and awards assembly.

BE SURE of YOUR Future

YOU CAN THINK SUCCESS THOUGHTS, when you're saving money with Western Savings! You are building up DOLLAR POWER for the future, and your money has "Insured Protection"—each account is insured to $10,000. Your Government thought it was important to give you this added protection, and provided for it by an act of Congress. But, remember—all savings institutions do not offer you this INSURED protection. Start your Savings Account with $5—$10, or any amount.

Your Editor's "30"

It was an empty feeling that your WESTERNER staff felt the day after the annual was completed. Eight months of doing the thousand and one things that must be done in producing a yearbook were over for another year — no more nights, Saturdays, and holidays spent working in order to meet the deadline.

This is a student publication; it is not perfect in many respects, but the book is representative of the talents of many of your classmates. Today my staff and I present to you the 1953 edition of the WESTERNER. We are proud of our work and hope you will like it.

A sincere "thank you" is in order for the following deserving people:

MR. MORTON BOSS for the uncountable hours he spent directing the photography production for the annual and listening to the problems that confront a yearbook staff.

PHOTOGRAPHY BOYS for spending free time taking, developing, and printing pictures and taking directions from inexperienced hands.

MR. JOHN SHERMAN whose superb direction and artistic ability was responsible for the fine job done by his students in page layouts and silk screening of section pages.

DIVISION CHAIRMEN — Jack Haehl, Gerry Dawson, Bob Finley, and Terry Dennison — who organized and guided their phase of the yearbook production to its conclusion.

MR. ROSWELL WILLARD for pointing the way through uncertain spots and helping us with the do's and don't's of copy writing.

MISS ELIZABETH TITSWORTH for devoting her time and the time of Lorna Price and Sally Ann Miller in order to help write the printed words here inclosed.

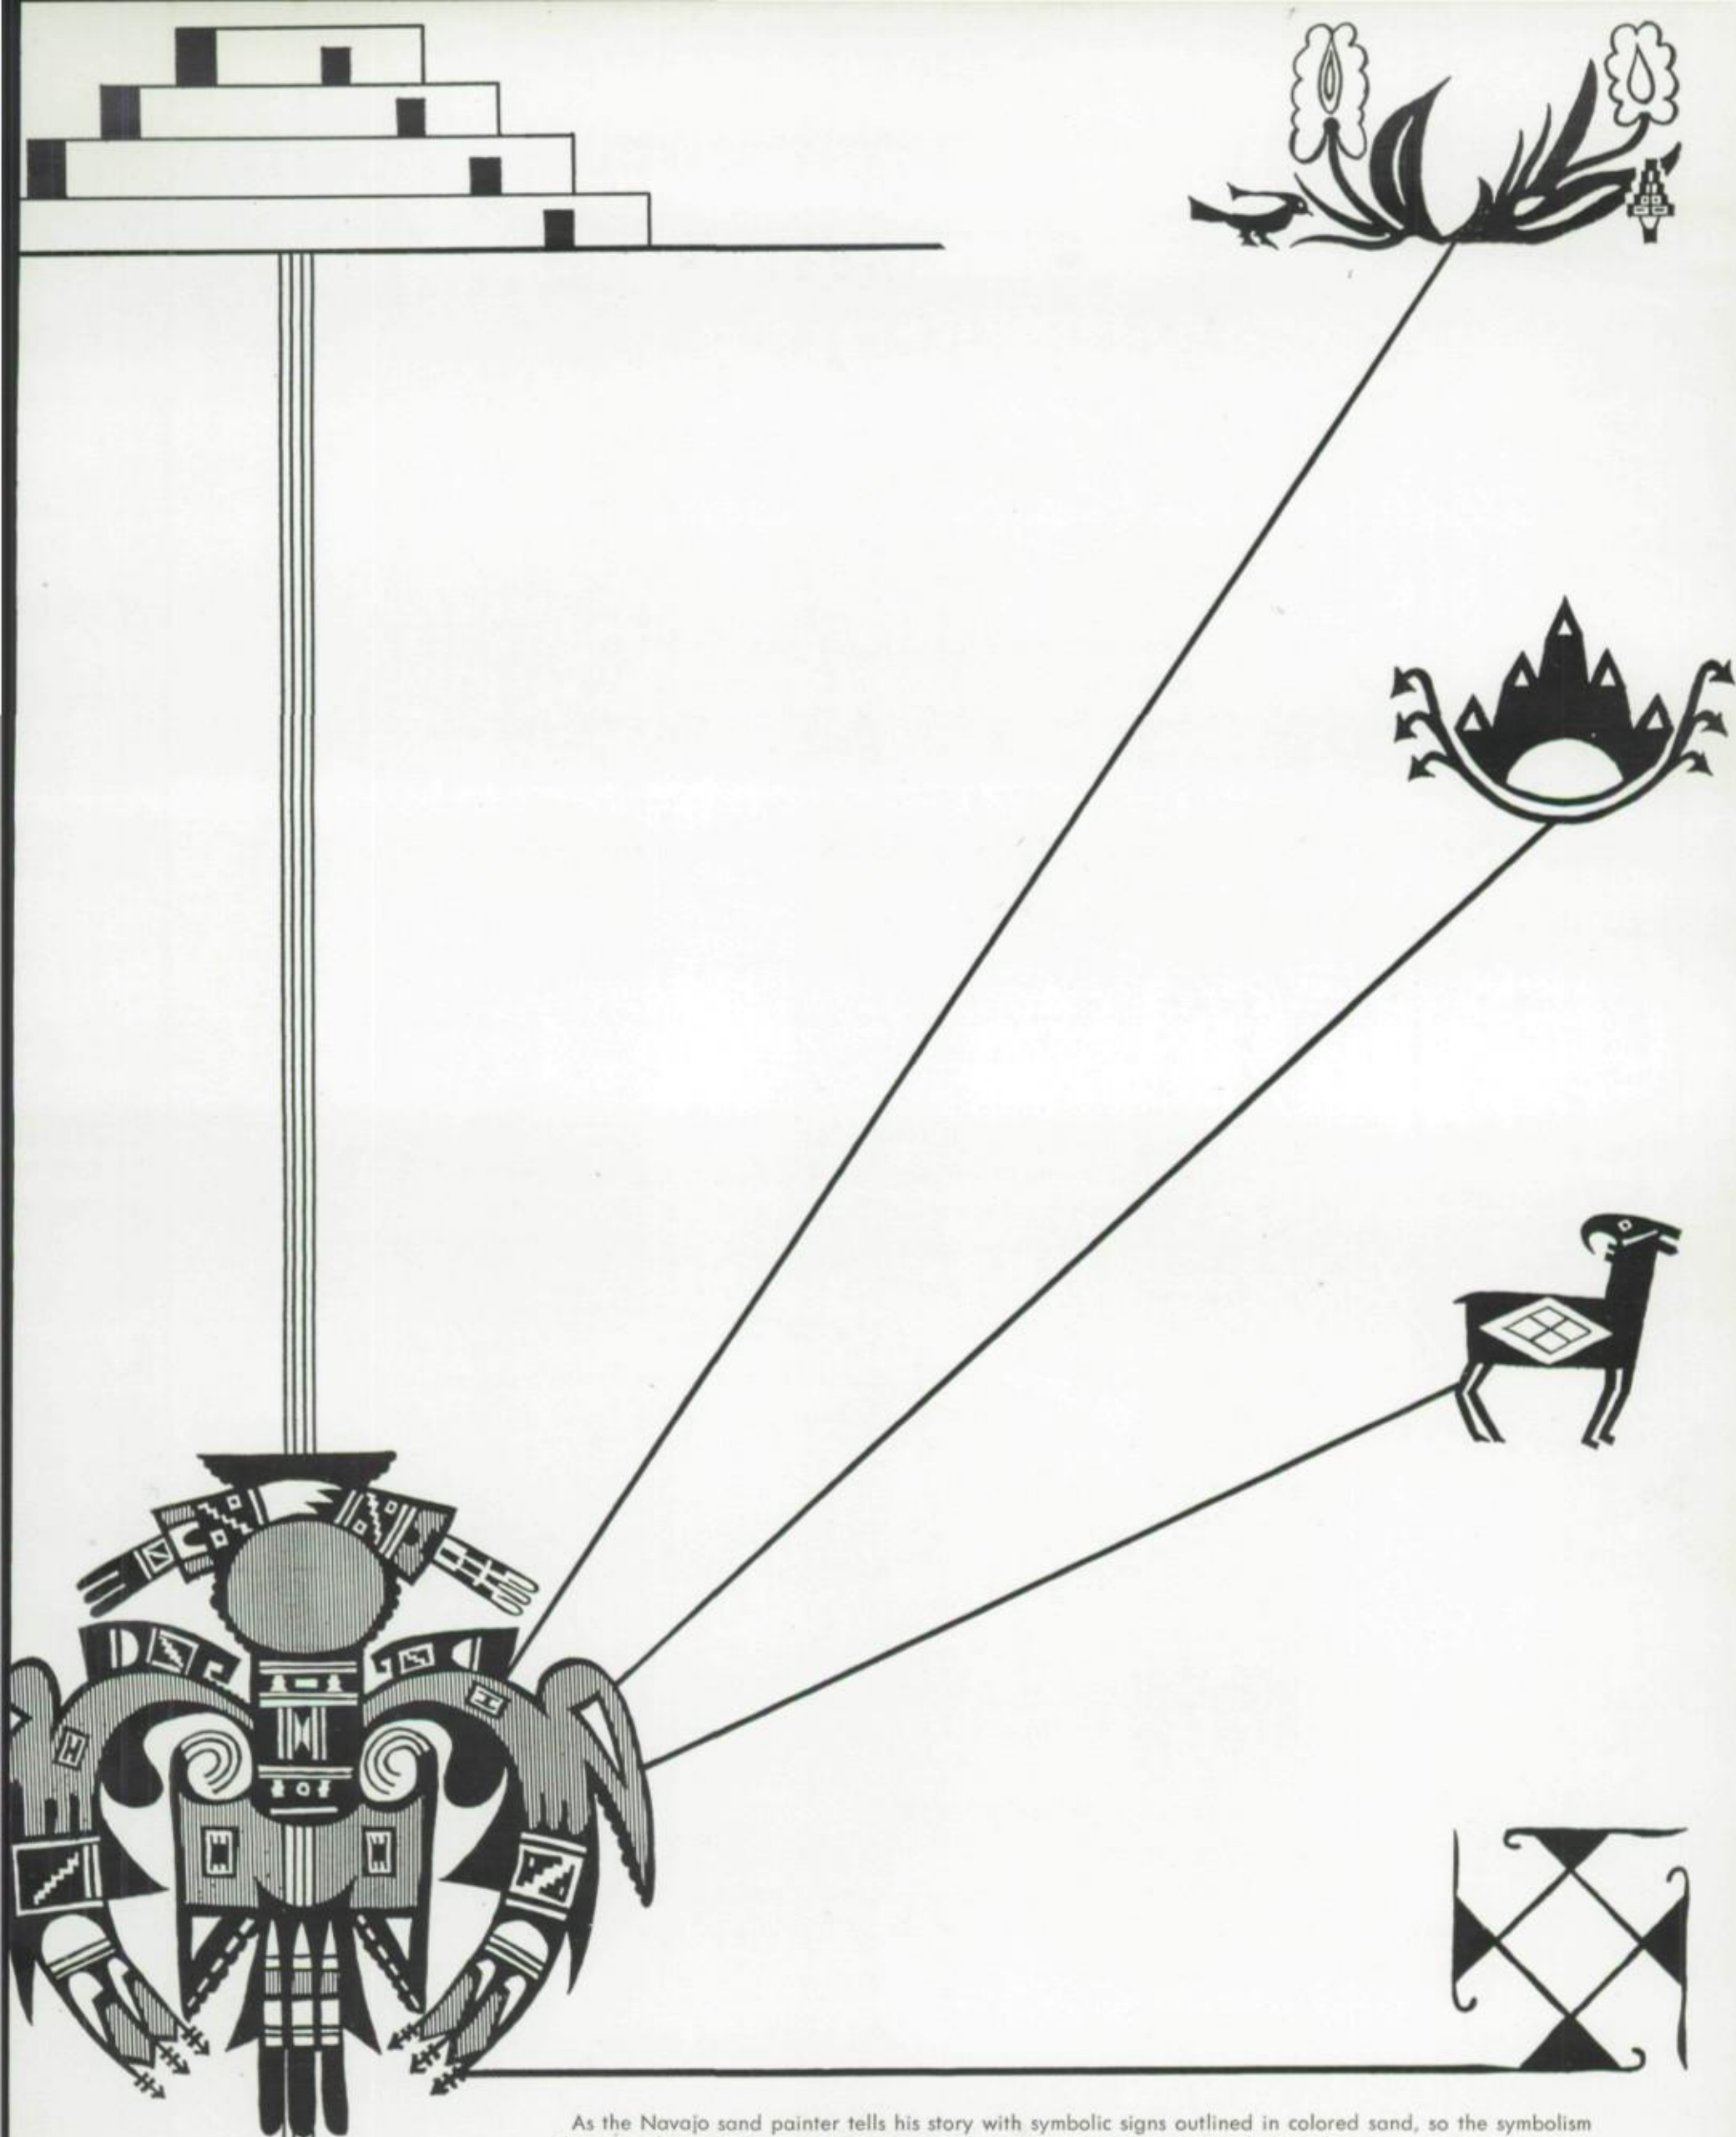

THE STAFF — Danny Blanton, Toni Bond, Rodney Anne Crowe, Jo Phillips, Don Stegner, and Elaine Turken — who spent time and a half in putting the book together. They were top assistants and stood behind me and their work throughout.

THE HEARD MUSEUM for helping artists Jack Haehl and Don Stegner gather material for the designed section pages.

A-BAR-A ENGRAVERS, MCGREW PRINTERY, and ARIZONA TRADE BINDERY for their fine professional work and the help they so courteously extended to us.

As we close this edition of West High's "Coming of Age" memories, I would like to thank YOU the students and faculty who cooperated with us and made this job very worthwhile. YOU made this WESTERNER possible.

Your editor,
BARBARA GOOR

As the Navajo sand painter tells his story with symbolic signs outlined in colored sand, so the symbolism on this page legends the saga of "Coming of Age" in West Phoenix High School.

Representing four years of growth, the Thunderbird sends forth its graduates. The parallel lines lead to higher education which will be sought by many sons of this school. Others will till the soil and reap its fruits for civilization. The happy fortune of many West daughters lies in the promise of marriage and family life. The call to duty in defending our country and keeping it strong will be answered by her stout sons. The field of business and commerce will welcome other well-trained members of the West family.

Unlike the Navajo sand painting which must be destroyed ere the sun goes down, these threads of West activity will go on and on, ever honoring the school from whence they started.
